

Thompson has foregone the people and gone over to Insull.

"2. Because Mayor Thompson appointed as corporation counsel for the city, one Samuel A. Eitelson, a partner in the law firm of Schuyler, Eitelson and Weinfeld, who are attorneys for Insull, which demonstrates that Thompson is serving Insull and not the people.

"3. Because Gov. Small and Mayor Thompson, in the last regular session of the legislature, worked continuously and unrelentingly to double the tax valuation for the city and finally were successful in increasing the borrowing power from $100,000,000 to $200,000,000 without giving the people an opportunity to vote on this stupendous tax increase.

Cite Senate Inquiry Verdict.
"10. Because of the fact that Thompson accepted $25,000 out of the $200,000 contributed by Insull and other public utility heads in behalf of Smith's candidacy for the senate, and because Gov. Small has used his power to force Smith on the senate, of which body Vice President Dawes appointed a committee of the senate, which after a thorough investigation said in their report:

Resolved, That the acceptance and expenditure of the various sums of money above cited, in behalf of the candidacy of the said Frank L. Smith, is contrary to sound public policy, harmful to the dignity and honor of the senate, dangerous to the perpetuity of free government, and tainted with fraud and corruption the credentials for a seat in the senate presented by the said Frank L. Smith, and he is further resolved, That the said Frank L. Smith is not entitled to membership in the senate of the United States and that a vacancy exists in the representation of the state of Illinois in the United States senate.

"11. Because of all these foregoing facts we believe it is necessary, in order to stop this triumvirate of Small, Smith and Thompson from accomplishing their scheme to betray the people of Chicago into the hands of Insull for all time, to submit these three questions of public policy to the voters so that Small, Smith and Thompson will not dare consummate this deal.

"Faith in Pledges Destroyed."
"Until the recent combination between Gov. Small and Mayor Thompson was brought about by Frank L. Smith we had faith in the pledges given to the people, but the ruthless breaking of pledges by repelling the primary law which was declared valid by the Supreme court and which gave to the people of Chicago, through their precinct committeemen, the right to nominate the judges of their courts, destroyed that faith. When Thompson and Small took this right away from the people and placed it in the hands of the political bosses, namely, Crowe and Brennan, in violation of their pledge not to do it, Thompson and Small proved themselves unworthy of further trust.

"This has convinced us that action through a public policy petition has become absolutely necessary to protect Chicago's rights in solving the street car question."

Jarecki Receives Petition.
The petition was not presented until 11 p. m., County Judge Jarecki having consented to receive it at that hour when he was notified that the signatures still were being counted and the pages bound together during the afternoon.

Such inquiry as was possible at that late hour revealed that the organization sponsoring the petition had its origin about two years ago in the formation of the Amalgamated Northwest Improvement association which centered in the Parkside Improvement association of Edison Park. Its immediate purpose was to fight an increase in suburban rates of fare on the steam railroads.

Following this movement it was joined by other associations lying outside the northwest side and at the present time it is said to include about two score associations, some of which lie outside Chicago.

FREE ON PLAN OR FOUR TRUNK RAILWAY MERGER

roads Involved Are Worth
Billions of Dollars.

New York, April 5.—[Special.]—On the brink of an open conflict with Mr. P. L. Loree, sponsor of a fifth trunk line between here and the west, the Pennsylvania, New York Central and other roads agreed today on a plan for a four-trunk system approved by Mr. Loree.

The break was averted by Otto H. Kahn, member of Kahn, Loeb & Co., bankers for Mr. Loree and his proposed system. His intervention has made possible a coalition of roads between five and ten billion dollars, operating about 50,000 miles of track.

Mr. Loree and the other officials met in the Pennsylvania station in the morning and were still at loggerheads when the conference broke up at luncheon. At this time it was generally understood that settlement of the merger problem would be postponed.

After the formal meeting, however, there was a resumption of discussion with Mr. Kahn acting the part of arbitrator. This second conference is understood to have been held in the Wall street district.

Loree Got Line West.

Efforts to reach W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania, to obtain details of the plan were unsuccessful tonight. This much was learned, however: The plan calls for four trunk lines and not five, and is satisfactory to Mr. Loree. It is understood that Mr. Loree's Delaware and Hudson road is a source of access to the west. As was previously hinted, his holdings in the Lehigh Valley railroad, which nearly gave him control at the recent annual meeting, played an important part in the settlement. The Baltimore and Ohio, which has long desired the Lehigh Valley and the Central of New Jersey, is understood to have received favorable consideration for this proposal.

Mr. Loree had planned a line west, through the Wabash railway, the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh, and the Delaware and Hudson, or the Lehigh Valley. Railroad observers believe it possible that under the new plan he may be given track rights to connect the Delaware and Hudson with the west in return for his holdings in Lehigh Valley.

A Trade with Penns.

It is considered almost certain that Mr. Loree's Lehigh Valley holdings have been traded to the Pennsylvania in return for an important part in the new alignment. The Nickel Plate, which the Van Sweringen seek to combine with the Erie, may profit by this disposal of Mr. Loree's holdings in Lehigh Valley. The Wabash, which runs from Buffalo to Chicago and western points, and in which Mr. Loree has large holdings, may be shared with the B. & O., which has desired this road. The possibility that the New York Central will get the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western seems to become stronger as a result of the deliberations today. The interstate commerce commission will have to pass upon the final plans for the merger.

Mayor's Wrecking Crew

Mrs. Anna Walsh Devine, upon whose person the campaign buttons of Emmerson and Haenisch so excited the patriotism of an "America First" wrecking crew that they unchivalrously removed her from one of Mayor Thompson's noonday meetings, yesterday consulted with counsel with the view of exacting justice from members of the mayor's bouncing squadron.

VAGRANT FREED AS JUDGE FINDS HE HAS $25,000

New York, April 5.—[Special.]—Nobody, Daniel Sugrue, 78, told Magistrate Brown in Coney Island court today, is going to get the rest of his money away from him. As he spoke he unbuttoned three overcoats. He said money in Boston years ago, he said, and planned to keep the rest.

Sugrue had been arrested on a charge of vagrancy, and a probation officer got him to tell how much money he had and where it was. It was about $25,000 in banks in New York, Boston, and Vermont.

German Ascends 1,870 Feet in Glider; Sets New Record

BRESLAU, Germany, April 5.—(AP)—A record performance with a glider was made today at Grunau by Ferdinand Schulz when he ascended 1,870 feet above his starting point in forty-five minutes. He used one of the primitive practice gliders of the school at Grunau. The glider mark for height previously recorded was or about 2,500 feet made Oct. 19 by Schulz, but it took four hours to do it and was accomplished a great distance from the starting point.

REFUSES TO STOP HER STORY IN OR OUT OF COURT

Mrs. Della Farhart, 4143 Drake avenue, in the Shakespeare court yesterday refused to stop talking and at the end of twenty minutes Judge Frank M. Padden, threw up his hands and yelled:

"Dismissed. Before this woman finishes her declamation the statute of Illinois will have run its course and the charge will be automatically withdrawn. Dismissed, I say."

She had had Marshall Peters, 47, who lives in an apartment below her, arrested for knocking out her apartment door while she was entertaining a "bunco" party. Peters explained to the judge that he couldn't sleep. The talking and yelling of Mrs. Farhart annoyed him and when they wouldn't answer the door bell he kicked in the door to tell them to be quiet, he declared.

On the witness stand Mrs. Farhart told her story. She told it again. And again. Then Judge Padden tried to interrupt her in a nice way. She wouldn't listen and continued. And she still continued when policemen and court attaches tried to halt her. When the judge dismissed the case bailiffs hustled her from the room. She was still telling her story.

DUNNING INMATES 'PICKET' MEETING, CANDIDATE SAYS

Charges Small Uses Them to Scare People Away.

By JAMES DOHERTY.

Dementia praecox and the Ku Klux Klan had their parts in a Republican ward meeting held last night at the Women's Alliance hall, 1309 North Ashland avenue.

"Don't dare go in there; the Klan organizers are holding a meeting," people coming to the meeting were told by men and women, afterwards said to be inmates of the Dunning insane asylum brought there to give a crazy aspect to the situation.

Wences F. Hetman, the Deneen-Emerson-Carlson candidate for ward committeeman of the 34th ward, who enlisted in the army as a private and was later commissioned a lieutenant and who is past commander of American Legion post No. 88, was in charge of the meeting and when he heard the most weird shouts and screams outside he investigated.

"The bug house has been turned loose," he said and later he amplified the statement. His opponent is Dr. D. D. Coffey, superintendent of the Dunning asylum, which is a state institution, and Hetman said Coffey has not only been using state employees for his election purposes, but the insane persons too. After the meeting he made the following written charge:

"At the instance of Gov. Small's lieutenant, Dr. D. D. Coffey, his henchmen attempted to keep people away from an anti-Small, anti-Frank L. Smith, anti-Morris Eller rally held in the Women's Alliance hall, 1309 North Ashland avenue.

"Not only were state institution em-

LETTER PUTS RACE IN 48TH WARD AT NEAR BOILING POINT

In Uptown Chicago, Forty-eighth ward politics jumped up and spun like a teetotum last night over the Republican committeeman scrap. Announcement that legal action will be taken against the American First adherents of Judge Joseph L. McCarthy, Thompson candidate for committeeman, was made by Victor J. Curto, president of the Central Uptown Chicago association. It was the result of a letter indorsing McCarthy bearing an imprint "Uptown Business Men's association." Lawyers declared it a deliberate infringement upon the Central Uptown Chicago association, which is purely a business organization and has not indorsed any candidates in the present campaign.

"The whole procedure," said Mr. Curto, "is a splendid example of dirty politics. It is a clear warning of what we can expect from a politician who seeks to get into power by such methods."

The committeeship fight is triangular, the other two candidates being County Commissioner Francis L. Boulet, a Brundage man, and Frank J. Link, a Deneen adherent.

players placed at and around the building where the meeting was held but I am informed that a number of the institution patients were also brought there and kept shouting in front of the building to scare the people away. Whether the institution patients were the same ones Coffey used as workmen in the building of his summer home is something I'll try to find out.

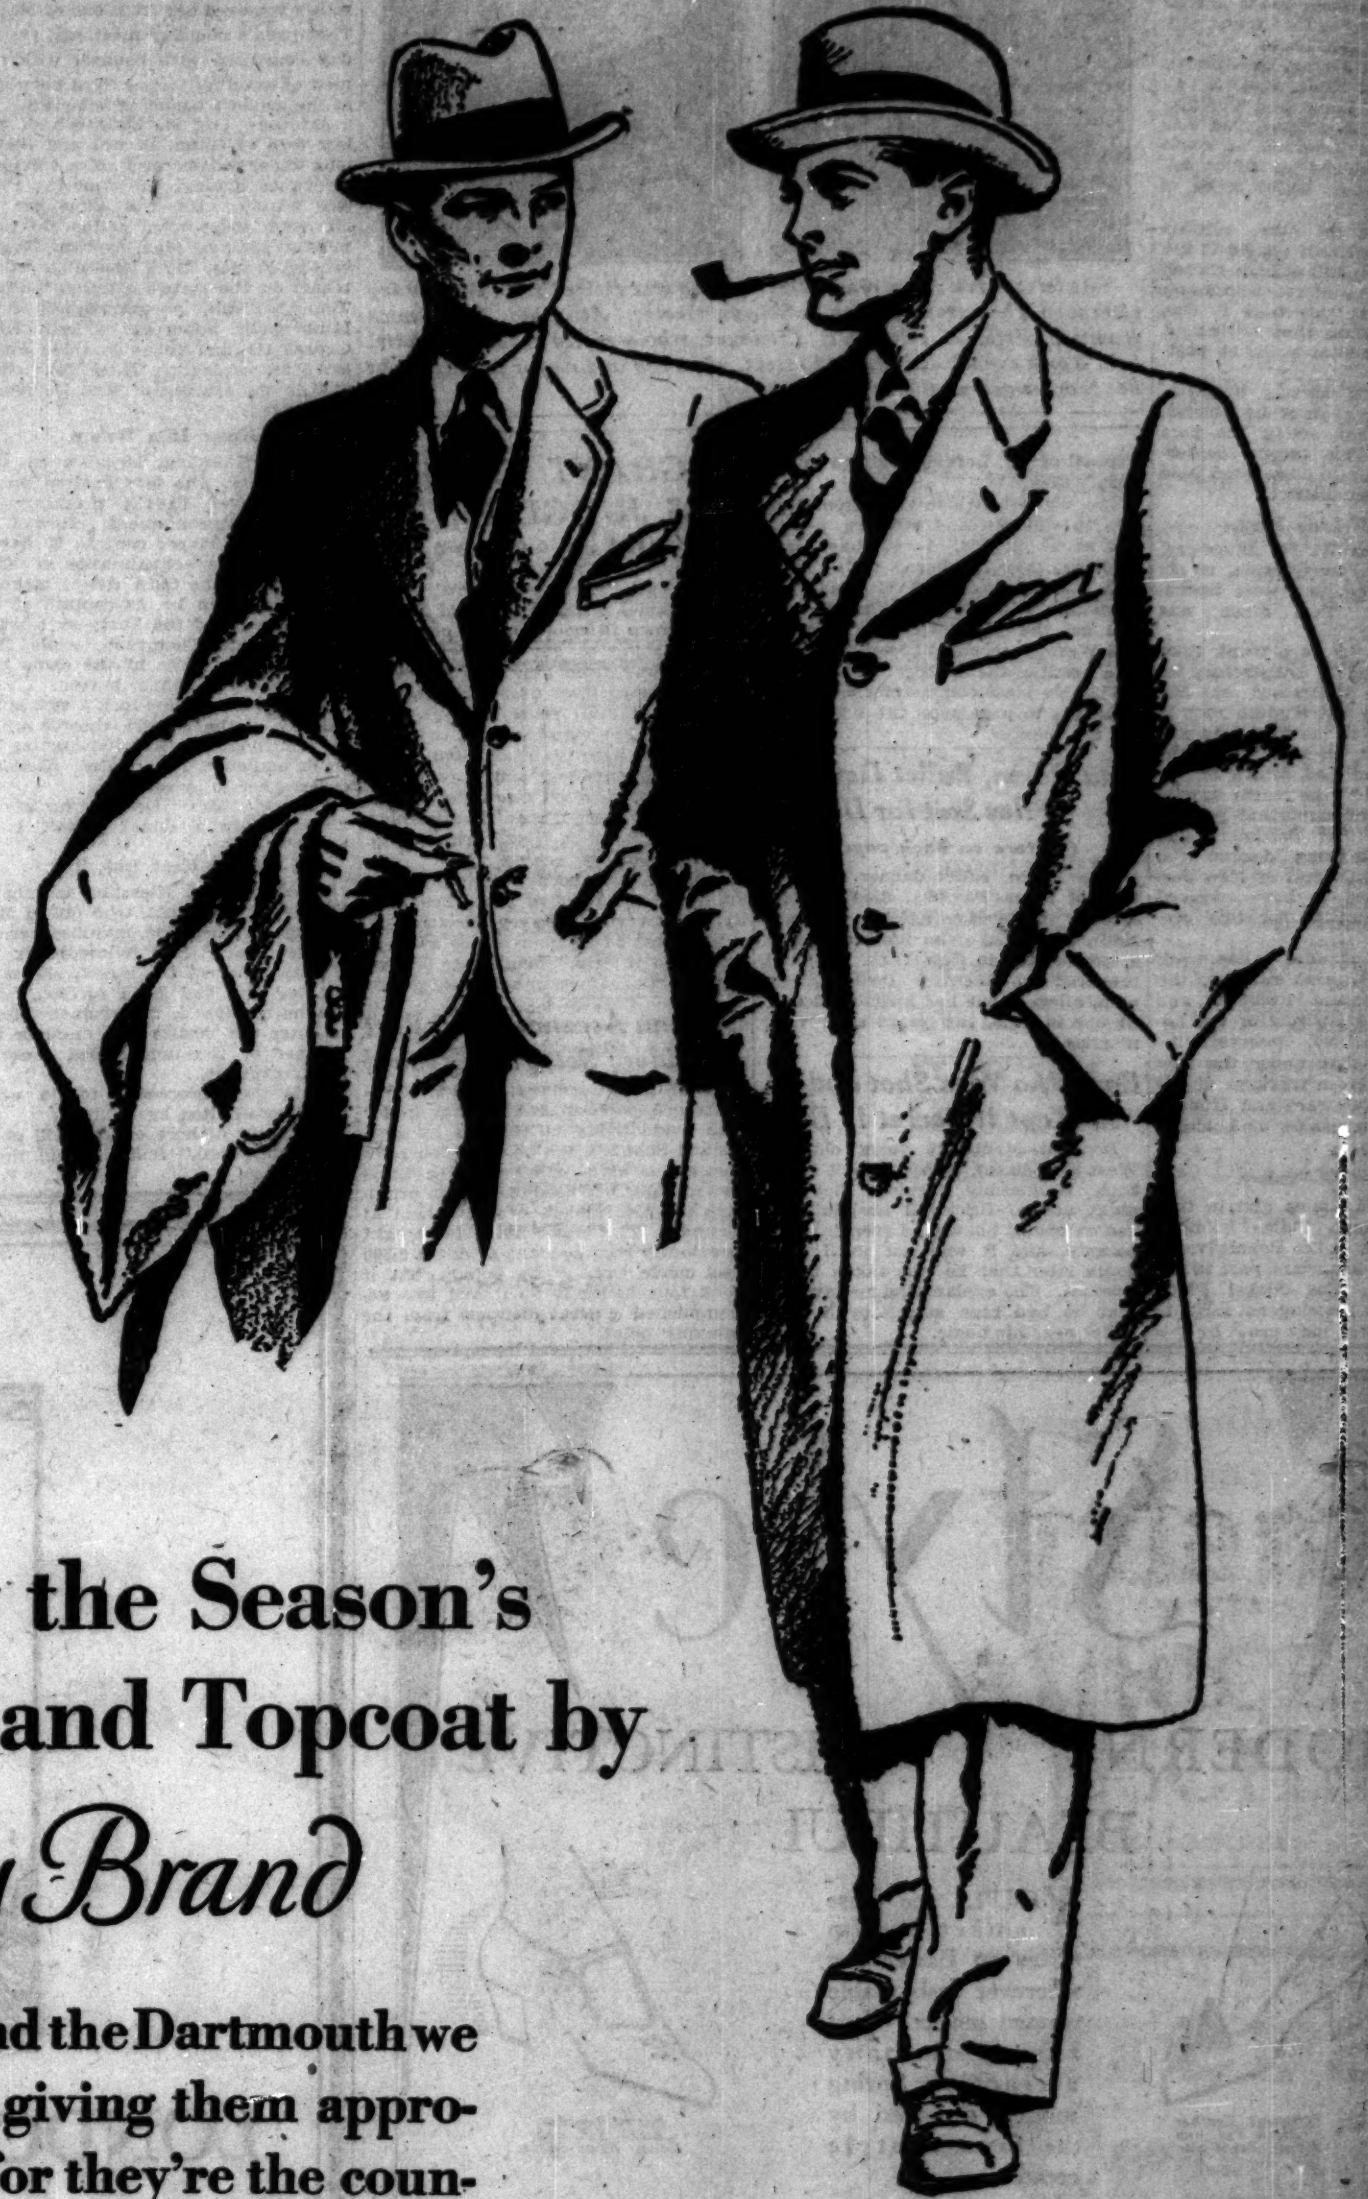

"Small and his lieutenant know that the vast mass of voters of Polish descent in Chicago are up in arms against him because of the rottenness and unfairness in the Small administration and for that reason Small's henchmen are trying to use terrorist methods of Russia to keep people from attending mass meetings where they will be told of the miracle of the state under Small, of the scandal involving Frank Smith, and of the needs of a house cleaning for the good of Illinois and Cook county."

$25,000 FOR DEPARTMENTS IS ASKED IN BONDS

Nine Issues on Ballot Not Street Projects.

Analysis of the $77,959,000 city bond issue to be voted on next Tuesday shows that $70,134,000, or nearly nine-tenths of the total amount asked for, will be expended, if authorized, for building, opening and improving streets. Previous articles have dealt with the 22 projects in this group.

List of Proposals.

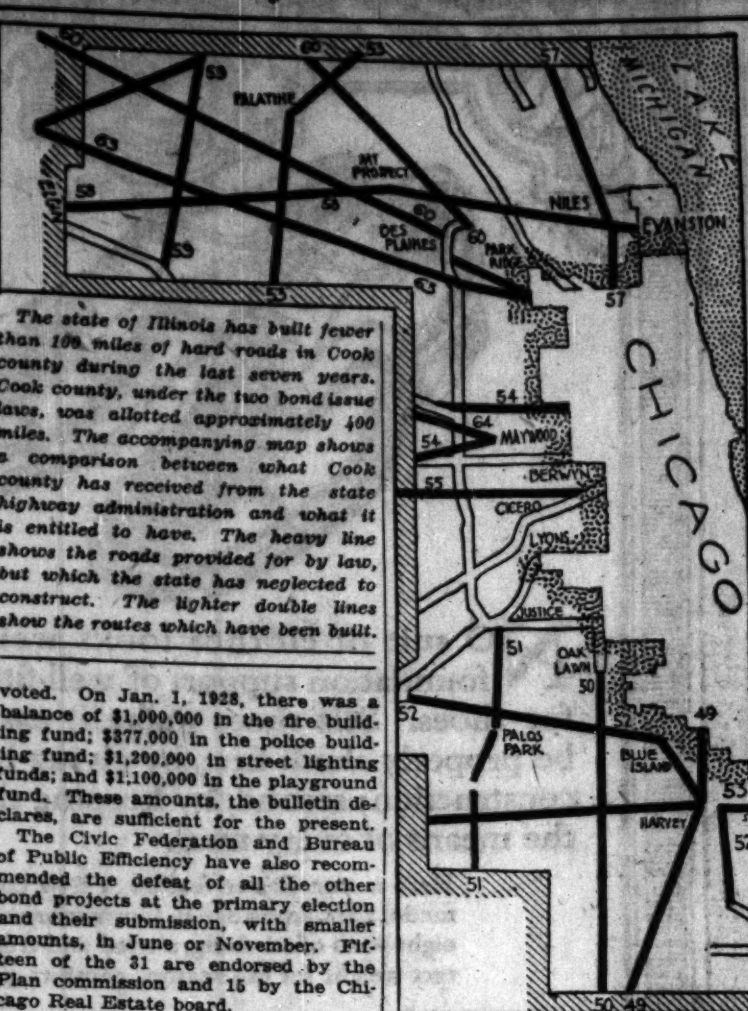

They are as follows:
STREET LIGHTS—To extend lighting system to outlying portions of the city..... $1,725,000
PLAYGROUND LIGHTS—For purchase and improvement of playgrounds, ball fields and small parks..... 1,000,000
STREET LIGHTS—To rehabilitate street lighting..... 1,000,000
STREET LIGHTS—To purchase and improve street lighting..... 1,000,000

STREET LIGHTS—To purchase and improve street lighting..... 1,000,000

Practically all of the proposed fire department bond issue will go to replace old station houses with modern structures costing about $250,000 each. While all but $300,000 of the police issue will be similarly used. Of the balance in the police issue, $200,000 is to complete the new court and police building at 11th and State streets and $100,000 for a new dog pound.

Meet With Opposition.
 Other bond issues in the department group are self-explanatory. Each one is greatly recommended by the head of the department requesting it. Only one, that for improving the city flag field, is endorsed by the Chicago Plan commission, which takes the position that the others are outside of its jurisdiction.

The Civic Federation and Bureau of Public Efficiency, however, vigorously oppose all of the departmental issues in their bulletin, pointing out that it is a financial blunder to sell year bonds for non-permanent improvements such as alarm systems and stop and go lights which may be worn out or obsolete within a few years. These needs should be met by the corporate fund, they argue. The B. P. or E. bulletin points out further that there is no emergency for these issues as comfortable balances remain in bond funds previously

How County Is Cheated of Roads

The state of Illinois has built fewer than 100 miles of hard roads in Cook county during the last seven years. Cook county, under the two bond issue laws, was allotted approximately 400 miles. The accompanying map shows a comparison between what Cook county has received from the state highway administration and what it is entitled to have. The heavy line shows the roads provided for by law, but which the state has neglected to construct. The lighter double lines show the routes which have been built.

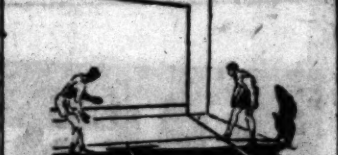

voted. On Jan. 1, 1928, there was a balance of $1,000,000 in the fire building fund; $377,000 in the police building fund; $1,200,000 in street lighting fund; and $1,100,000 in the playground fund. These amounts, the bulletin declares, are sufficient for the present.

The Civic Federation and Bureau of Public Efficiency have also recommended the defeat of all the other bond projects at the primary election and their submission, with smaller amounts, in June or November. Fifteen of the 31 are endorsed by the Plan commission and 15 by the Chicago Real Estate board.

All of the interested civic groups have stamped their approval on the Lincoln park bond issues to be submitted to voters on the north side. These include $2,000,000 to continue extension of the park northward and $2,000,000 to supplement $3,000,000 already voted as Lincoln park's share of the proposed new outer drive bridge at the mouth of the river.

Old Bell to Be Retained at Forrestville School
 According to a petition signed by John L. Carter, the principal, and several hundred residents of the community, the board of education will preserve the old bell that for more than forty years has hung on the top of the Forrestville school, at 4433 St. Lawrence avenue, to call the children to their classes. The bell is now being taken down, but will be put back after an addition to the school is built.

Threatens Women Clerks, Robs Candy Shop in Loop
 A colored robber entered Mrs. Stover's candy shop at 33 West Randolph street, adjoining the United Artists theater, at 10:30 o'clock last night. Drawing a knife he forced two women clerks, Miss Irene Walters, 2631 Sheffield avenue, and Miss Caroline Schmidt, 4732 Kesson avenue, into a rear room. Then he ran out with $225 taken from the cash register.

BLISTERS MAYOR, SMALL, SMITH AS "GOLD DUST TRIO"

public funds and from the utilities, facing their Waterloo on Tuesday. Big Bill, who fights an imaginary King George, wants to make a King Len. Next Wednesday Small will be retreating to Kankakee; Smith will be beating it back to Dwight, home of the Keeley cure.

"And Wilhelm der Grosse, like Napoleon at St. Helena with his cape over his shoulder, will ask, 'What have you got at Kankakee, Len?' And Small will say, 'We've got the lunatic asylum.' And Thompson will say to Smith, 'What have you got at Dwight?' And Smith will answer, 'We've got the Keeley cure.' Then Bill will yell, 'Beat it back home, quick, boys, and save me a place.'"

"Thompson, this booze-befuddled man with the carcass of a rhinoceros and the brain of a baboon, takes his poisoned dagger and digs into a grave closed these twenty years and desecrates the memory of that dear old mother of mine. I shall never rest until he is in a political grave from which he will never emerge."

Crowe Letter to Leesch.

The day's campaigning, which began sulphurously, hit new marks in the thermometer as State's Attorney Crowe put Mr. Leesch on the pan. The Crowe letter said:

"You are president of the Chicago Crime commission and attorney for the Pennsylvania Railroad company, are you not?"

"As president of the Crime commission, do you not know that in every annual report that the commission has issued during the seven years I have been state's attorney, they have praised and commended my administration?"

Cites Commission Report.

"Do you know that in their annual report dated Jan. 12, 1928, the commission said: 'Chicago has been represented as the most crime ridden city in America. There is no supporting data to sustain this malicious, envious characterization. . . . It is a fact that there is an actual decrease in crime generally.'"

"Do you know that your commission also said: 'The substantial reduction in the volume of crimes and violence is in no small measure due to the effective activity of State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe.'"

Seven Years and Now.

"During the last seven years your Crime commission has collected from people who believed in it, approximately one million dollars. Now you spend some of that money in a political advertisement directed against me in which you say I am unworthy of my office."

"You were state's attorney of Cook county in 1905, by appointment of a Deneen judge. You indicted hundreds of men. You convicted one. You received a large sum of money in payment of your 'highly efficient' services."

"Is the fact that your wealthy client, the Pennsylvania Railroad company, is engaged in interstate commerce and that Deneen's United States district attorney, Johnson, has charge of the prosecution of violations of the interstate commerce law, responsible for repudiation of the reports of seven years of your Crime commission?"

"F. E. M. Leesch, aren't you ashamed of yourself?"

Burras Makes Protest.

Atop of this came the letter to Mr. Leesch from Mr. Burras, protesting as a member of the crime commission against the action of President Leesch.

"As a member of the commission," wrote Mr. Burras, "I desire to enter a protest against this notice (recommending the defeat of Mr. Crowe) as I am advised this action was not taken by the commission but by the executive committee, representing in numbers a very small part of the commission. Personally I am in favor of Judge Crowe's renomination as I believe him to be honest, fearless and capable and his conduct of his office entitles him to the confidence and respect of the people."

"This action having been taken by the executive committee and not by the crime commission itself, I think your notice should have so stated and not place the members of the commission who are in favor of indorsing Mr. Crowe's renomination in the position of indorsing your statement."

"This would seem to me only fair to other members of the commission and to the candidacy of Mr. Crowe."

Deneen Replies to Crowe.

Senator Charles S. Deneen charged Mr. Crowe with trying "artfully to shift the issues." In replying to Mr. Crowe's declaration that gambling and vice rings had their golden age when Mr. Deneen was state's attorney, the senator said the nub of the present crime situation is the cooperation between organized criminals and the law officers.

"State's Attorney Crowe," said Mr. Deneen, at the Four Cohans, "says that during my administration as state's attorney Carrie Watson conducted a disorderly house; that the Everleigh club was as well known as the Union League and that there were gambling places in the Methodist church block. I have no personal knowledge of any of these matters, but I assume he knows whereof he speaks."

Says He Wasn't Policeman.

"He insinuates that because I did not act as chief of police or sheriff of Cook county that I did not perform my full duty as state's attorney. In law the state's attorney has no authority whatever in directing the sheriff or the police of Chicago. Any assumed authority of that kind is extra legal. Only two policemen were assigned to my office during my administration and their duties were to protect my assistants and myself from personal violence and to check the work of the sheriff, police, and coroner in criminal cases."

"George B. Swift was mayor for four months during my term; Carter H. Harrison was mayor during the remaining part of my term. The state's attorney's office during my administration never refused to prosecute a case where legal evidence of guilt was presented and it never made any discrimination among the offenders. Mayor Harrison, the chiefs of police who served, the sheriffs who served, and the great civic organizations of those days and the Chicago Bar association, I am sure, would confirm this statement."

Charges Crowe Shifts Issue.

"State's Attorney Crowe tries artfully to shift the issue. Crime and vice will always exist, and this is the reason why we have prosecuting officers, sheriffs, and police and jails and penitentiaries. But the vice of the present situation is the understanding and cooperation between the organized and protected criminal classes and the officers of the law."

"This attitude of sympathy and cooperation deters witnesses from revealing crimes or giving information regarding them and encourages the criminal classes to seek greater and greater control of our local government. And this is the reason why there has been a breakdown in the agencies which the law has provided for the defense of public order and safety."

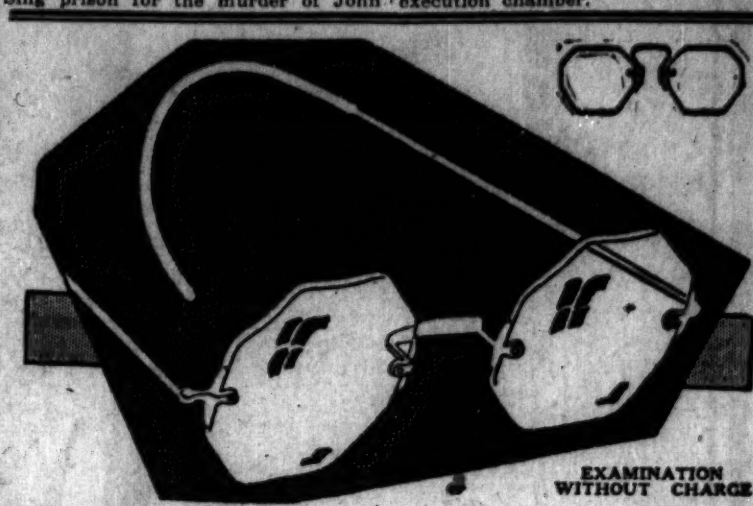

Meanwhile Bernard P. Burras, Thompson candidate for the board of review, asked how his opponent, Mr. Litsinger, is financing his campaign.

"His campaign expenditures are enormous," said Mr. Burras. "Where is the money coming from? The source of contributions to Litsinger's campaign funds has never been disclosed."

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The straw votes received yesterday continued heavily to favor Louis L. Emmerson for governor, Otto F. Glenn for United States senator, and John A. Swanson for state's attorney. Their respective opponents, Gov. Small, Frank L. Smith, and State's Attorney Crowe, made a worse showing yesterday than they did on Wednesday. Their straws on Wednesday were relatively fewer than on Tuesday. If any credence is to be placed in this experimental poll, there is a growing popular sentiment against the Small-Thompson-Crowe organization. It is almost unbelievable that the opposition is as overwhelming as the straw votes indicate. How much this will be offset by the strength of the Thompson-Crowe organization remains to be seen.

1924 Straws Favored Small.
Several persons telephoned yesterday to say they had heard Gov. Small over the radio intimate that the straw vote is influenced by the editorial policy of The Tribune. The editorials of this paper in 1924 told the public that The Tribune deemed it disadvantageous to the state to reflect Mr. Small governor. However, on Oct. 26, 1924, before the November election, The Tribune printed a large black headline saying, "Straws say Small and Crowe Win." Oct. 29, 1924, it also was printed: "The Tribune poll outside Cook county indicates that Len Small will carry downstate. Late polls of fourteen cities in fourteen counties indicate he will win. His plurality, however, will be below that of Coolidge."

Again on Nov. 3, 1924, The Tribune printed: "All the straws taken by The Tribune indicate that Small will win. The poll also shows that the chief position on the county ticket, state's attorney, will be retained by Albert E. Crowe."

Straws Then Pleased Small.
Gov. Len Small made no criticism of The Tribune straw vote at that time. He was reported to have said privately he thought the poll indicated public sentiment.

With the continued present slump of the Small-Smith-Crowe combination, the straws for Vice President Dawes took a drop. When the poll started March 23, Mr. Dawes was leading Mr. Hoover and running second to Mr. Lowden. In yesterday's poll, Mr. Dawes was 3.5 per cent behind Mr. Hoover. The "Draft Coolidge" supporters also were not active in the

POLITICAL NOTES

Thomas A. Green, Democratic candidate for Municipal court judge, has been endorsed by nearly every organization in South Chicago. The latest to praise his record is the South Chicago Medical association, which yesterday sent him copies of a resolution, commending his work against quack doctors when he was an assistant state's attorney.

Judge Francis Borrell, Democratic candidate for another term in the Municipal court, finds that he doesn't have to do any campaigning. Volunteer booster organizations for him are found in every community and they cite his record from his days as a newsboy to his handling of the position of assistant United States district attorney, during the war and his record on the bench which won him not only a host of new friends, but the unqualified endorsement of the Chicago Bar association as well.

Boosters for Judge Philip J. Finnegan, candidate for re-nomination in the Democratic primary, say he is the ideal judge, pleasant, friendly, sympathetic, just and dignified and his knowledge of the law is way above par. Before being elected Municipal judge he was an assistant judge of the Probate court for many years.

Vice President Charles G. Dawes, whose duties at the capital will prevent him from being at his home in Evanston next Tuesday, is among those who have cast their ballots by mail. It was announced at the election board offices yesterday.

Other citizens who have mailed absentee ballots include William P. Mac-

Cracken Jr., assistant secretary of commerce in charge of commercial aviation, and Charles M. Moderwell, former president of the board of education, whose ballot was posted in New York. Mr. Moderwell is en route to Europe for a vacation.

Judges and clerks of election will be paid promptly after April 10, it was indicated at the election board's office yesterday. All the salary checks, totaling $275,000, are ready for delivery.

"Morris Eller says he is for home rule," said Maj. W. S. Fuller, Emmerson-Denney candidate for sanitary district trustee, yesterday. "It may be so. When he was on the sanitary board before he demonstrated it by having a dozen persons from his home or family on the pay roll."

straw voting yesterday. Mr. Lowden, the leader, showed more speed than usual.

The 5,668 straws collected yesterday were distributed among the presidential possibilities. In the three sections of the city, as follows:

FOR PRESIDENT.
Candidate	Total	Pct.
Dawes	1,117	80
Hoover	764	54
Small	1,597	116
Totals	3,478	253

Minus only seven, the same persons as represented by the votes in the above tabulation expressed their opinions of the two gubernatorial candidates, as shown by votes and percentages in the following:

Candidate	Emmerson	For	Small	Per cent.
Dawes	1,945	48.19	231	21.5
Hoover	1,173	29.04	361	33.44
Dawes	879	21.45	379	35.94
Coolidge	46	1.14	365	34.08
Totals	4,056	100.00	1,366	100.00

Perhaps it is hard for Gov. Small to believe that of more than 5,000 persons polled in one day, four out of each five said they preferred his opponent.

Some Give Opinions, Too.

Sundry persons, however, write notes on their ballots which present their feelings more vividly, if not more forcibly than in the straws they mark. One wrote yesterday: "For the first time in 38 years I will vote the Democratic ticket. It CAN'T be worse. A Republican, ashamed of the name."

Another referred to Gov. Small as "the lender of state money"; to Frank L. Smith as "the Insult Insult," and to State's Attorney Crowe as "the crackerjacker de luxe." A third wrote: "I wish I had more than two votes in the family to beat Blow Hard Bill and his Little Crowe."

"Who can be a better judge of patriotism than a man who served two years with his two brothers in service, one of whom still is in the veterans' hospital?" asked another voter, who marked against all the Small-Thompson-Crowe candidates. Another who voted also for Emmerson, Glenn, and Swanson wrote: "Let us down Big Bill's brand of America First and vote to save God and Country."

Give Variety of Reasons.
"May God and the honest voters save us from Small, Smith, and the other Crowe," was written on still another card.
Of the 17,957 straws counted to date, 3,516, or 19.55 per cent, were from the north side; 5,971, or 33.25 per cent, were from the west side, and 8,470, or 47.17 per cent, were from the south side. More straws are needed from the west side and fewer from the south side to have a proportional number from each side of the city. Perhaps the mails Friday and Saturday will straighten out this defect.

ETTELSON FAILS TO SHED LIGHT ON HIS PAY ROLL

"Busy," Answer to Two Demands for List.

Corporation Counsel Samuel A. Ettelson yesterday failed to make good on his announcement Wednesday that he would issue a reply to letters of Ald. Guy Guernsey (5th) and Ernest T. Gundlach, president of the City club, demanding copies of his mysterious "expert" pay roll.

Inquirers at Mr. Ettelson's office were told that all of his time has been occupied in Judge Wilkerson's court, representing the city in the dry agent shooting proceedings.

"I will answer as soon as this case which keeps me so busy in court is ended," he explained, adding: "These political attacks, of course, mean nothing to me. I am clad in the armor of truth and righteousness."

Greet Reply with Smiles.
Ald. Guernsey and Mr. Gundlach greeted the report of Mr. Ettelson's explanation with cynical smiles as it would require only about one minute of his time to direct a clerk to prepare copies of the pay roll if he wished to make it public. His failure to do so yesterday lent strength to the prophecy that the pay roll will be forthcoming after the primary, if at all.

Meanwhile, through underground channels, evidence indicating that the salary list is a medium for payment of political obligations continued to leak out. One report had it that at least a dozen state legislators who supported the Thompson finance bills, have drawn or are drawing $25 to $100 a day as special counsel, real estate experts, investigators and so on. This, of course, remains unverified so long as official secrecy prevails.

Known List of Experts.
The known list of high-salaried job-holders to date is as follows:

Bernard Baran, Thompson candidate for the board of review; Joseph F. Savage, Thompson candidate for 25th ward committeeman; Thomas Marshall, former assistant state's attorney; Congressman Frank R. Reid, sponsor of the mayor's flood control bill; Francis L. Boutell, county commissioner and candidate for 48th ward Republican committeeman; Harry A. Blossat, the mayor's water meter and Calumet harbor agent, and Edward Armitage, former alderman and candidate for 41st ward Republican committeeman.

EMMERSON FOR GOVERNOR.

Gov. Len Small is a candidate for his third term as governor. Louis Emmerson, secretary of state, is his opponent in the Republican primaries next Tuesday. One of Small's predecessors in office, Denen, having had two terms as governor, tried for a third and was defeated in the election, the year of Roosevelt and the Progressive party. No man has had three consecutive terms as governor in this state. It would be a commentary on Illinois politics if the man to break this record were such a governor as Len Small.

When he was a candidate for his second term his record in public life was well defined and he was then fresh in the scandals of the nonexistent Grant Park bank, the packers' notes and the interest on them, in the trial for embezzlement at Waukegan and the disclosures subsequent to it.

It is not necessary to review at length these disgraceful transactions and episodes in state history. With the aid of the Thompson machine in Chicago, he defeated Thurlow Eastington, a good candidate, for the nomination, and the Republican national ticket pulled him through the election. He was a drag on the ticket, but he was re-elected.

His second term found him repeating the practices of his first and adding new audacities as required. The state suit to recover the interest he had withheld had gone to a Supreme court decision, and after the accounting required in the lower court Mr. Small made restitution of $650,000 in compromise with Attorney General Carlstrom. Mr. Small has in no way reformed his character or changed his conduct. In the last two years he has disclosed more of what might be expected of him.

He tried to defeat Justice Stone of the State Supreme court for renomination in the Fifth judicial district because Justice Stone was one of the five justices holding him accountable for the state interest. In this he almost succeeded.

He almost passed through the legislature the Insull-Thompson perpetual franchise bill, which would have taken control of transportation completely away from Chicago.

He passed the gasoline tax recently declared unconstitutional, a tax bearing heavily on Chicago car owners and being used mostly for the benefit of rural districts. He has used road taxes collected in Cook county in the same way, and he endeavored to establish an income tax which would exploit Chicago as a province for the benefit of the state.

No other governor has so many direct injuries, with many more threatened. He compelled the legislature to pass an act repealing the part of the statute by which he could be proceeded against in court to prove that the withholding of public money had disqualified him for holding office. This extraordinary mendacity was successful, and a compliant legislature expunged the law which confronted him.

He has administered the state as an extravagant spoils system without compunction or fear of consequences. As a part of the machinery for this he has his son, his son-in-law, and a former business associate in charge of construction work, disbursements, and accounting. That machine is perfect.

He has used the state road building for political coercion and control. He has threatened communities with mud unless they give him their votes and their legislators. There is no concealment of this. It is a part of the campaigning and a part of the governor's announcements. The concrete is laid where the votes are delivered, and decent highways are denied any independent district. Localities badly in need of roads have been forced to surrender their political independence and to trade their self-respect and the self-respect of their political leaders for the necessities of modern life.

Mr. Small's success with the Illinois electorate has been observed throughout the country as hardly explicable. He is a master of unscrupulous practices. It seems beyond reason that a majority of Republican voters, knowing the facts, should endorse the record. One plausible explanation of it is that Mr. Small goes beyond belief. It may be incredible that he would blame his dead associate in the Grant Park bank swindle for the raceability of it. It may be incredible that he would try openly to throw off the Supreme bench a judge who had voted him accountable for public money. It may seem incredible that he would force the legislature to repeal a statute which he had violated and which could strip him from office. It may seem incredible that he would try to force through the legislature a bill which would drive by traction lawyers without permitting the slightest amendment. It may be his protection in part that he so far transcends any popular conception of public misdoing that a statement of his misdeeds seems to be abuse of a man. The truth is that Mr. Small is just this incredible thing now asking for four more years.

Mr. Emmerson, who opposes him, has been well informed by his administration of the office of secretary of state. Because of the relations of this office to automobile owners, he is well known throughout the state and, we believe, favorably known by car owners. He is a practical politician, but the state would accept with relief the promise of release a change of government would give from gangland. Mr. Emmerson could give a good administration if he carried out his pledges and his program sincerely. The contrast would make him seem very good indeed. The Republican voter who votes for him is taking no chance in this instance. Any change would be for the better.

A Republican who cares at all for his party or his state cannot vote for Small. He will want to break the back of the present control, and in the primaries Emmerson gives him the chance to do that.

Gov. Small is a calamity to Illinois and his attitude toward Chicago makes his continuance in office a threat to the city. Emmerson's success would eliminate him.

MR. KELLOGG ON PROHIBITION PIRACY.

The British government wants to know how the United States explains the seizure of the British mail and passenger ship, the Isle of June, and the arrest of its skipper, Capt. Wheeler, in Miami. The Isle of June had some shots fired across its bow and was chased into the American port by the destroyer Cassin, a rum pirate boat. The coast guardsmen did not shoot Capt. Wheeler, but they threw him in jail and said he was so drunk he could not talk.

Secretary Kellogg has replied with a note to Sir Esmé Howard, the British ambassador, that everything was all right. The guardsmen were within the line of their duty. They always are. They were when they killed the owner of a pleasure boat in Florida waters. A selected federal court jury said they were, and acquitted them. It is intimated that the British will not find Mr. Kellogg's note satisfactory. They did not find the American protection granted a coast guardsman accused of piracy in Bahama waters satisfactory.

The regular procedure in a dispute between Great Britain and the United States would be to refer the question to arbitration. The American government can't do this. It has no case. The British ship was proceeding into American waters. It wasn't running away. There was no reason why it should be stopped. There was no reason why a hostile act should have been committed against it. The United States cannot submit a case when it hasn't any, and even if it had one it could not be submitted because no one would believe the American witnesses, the coast guard gunmen, unless it were a hand picked jury selected for the purpose.

No international court would want the case, even if the United States promised to protect, say, The Hague, by taking the gunboats across on a battleship and having the marines guard any populace with which the prohibition enforcers might come in contact. The court also would want protection, wherever it was.

It is apparent that the United States, having no case, having no reputable witnesses, and finding no arbitral body or international court which will willingly be exposed to the presence of the offenders, must avoid recourse to arbitration. This is an unfortunate breaking of a good precedent in international relations, but it cannot be helped.

Mr. Kellogg can only tell the British government to give itself no further worry. Piracy is legal under Volstead. Killing innocent people is not murder. Jailing foreign captives is not an offense. Shooting up foreign mail ships is not a crime. The killing of a little girl in the Detroit river was a trivial matter. Whatever the prohibition gunmen do is sanctioned by domestic and international law. That's the United States government's story, and it sticks to it.

EXTENDING THE BARGE LINES.

Congress is being asked to increase by $10,000,000 the capitalization of the Inland Waterways corporation, which operates the Mississippi barge lines. The corporation is government owned, but the bill provides for transfer to private management as soon as the service will be established.

The proposal is embodied in the Denen-Denison bill. One section of the bill empowers the secretary of war to make surveys of available traffic on the various tributaries of the Mississippi with a view to establishing barge service upon them if the traffic flow promises a profitable trade. Under this provision the Illinois river would be one of the first, if not the first stream, to receive attention. Senator Denen has been assured.

There is no good reason why barge service has not been extended to Peoria unless it is the lack of equipment, which the bill is intended to remedy. The Chicago industrial district, as figures compiled by J. P. Haynes of the Association of Commerce show, is one of the principal users of joint rail and barge facilities. Within three years, it is estimated, the Illinois waterway will be functioning, to connect Chicago directly with the Gulf by water. The immediate extension of service as far as Peoria will serve further to familiarize Chicago manufacturers and wholesalers with the use of the water lines and thereby hasten the day when the new facilities will be used to greatest advantage.

The importance of increasing the capitalization of the barge lines is plain. At present they are unable, for lack of equipment, to handle much of the freight that is offered, and service is neither so frequent nor so regular as it should be. Mississippi valley congressmen with an eye to the prosperity of their region will bring all the pressure they can exert on behalf of this bill.

Editorial of the Day

ILLINOIS REPORTS.

[The Argus, Rock Island, Ill.]

Export business in Illinois has greatly increased, according to figures released by the department of commerce. During the third quarter of 1927 commodities of the total value of $55,314,589 were sent from this state to foreign markets. This total exceeds that of the corresponding period in 1926 by $7,000,000, and that of the previous quarter by $12,600,000.

Illinois thus regains its peak of sixth place among exporting states, and it is interesting to note that agriculture was most responsible for this "come back," as wheat valued at $17,971,864 displaced packing house products as the leading item in valuation. Exports of farm products were valued at $4,991,075, and then in order came harvesters and binders, $2,481,010; bauxites, $1,681,663; tractors and parts, $1,146,665; hams and shoulders, $1,186,688; cornstarch, $1,377,000; canned meats, $925,212; bacon, $916,430; sausage casings, $861,345; iron and steel plates, sheets, skelp, and strips, $844,696; and corn ending the list at $611,209. During the quarter under discussion Illinois was the largest exporter of agricultural machinery.

How to Keep Well

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries under proper limitations, when returns stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual cases.

HEALTH FUTURE OF COUNTRY BRIGHT.

Our country continues to improve at a sufficiently rapid rate the vast stock of ill, strong young people, we can face the future with calmness and equanimity. This is the opinion of Dr. Reginald Pitts. It is based in part on his general experience. It is also based in part on a study that he has recently made of one thousand unselected medical cases. These were persons who came to his office because they had some symptom or were somewhat anxious about their health. A few of them came for an examination as a matter of yearly routine. Very careful examination failed to show any organic disease in one-third of this thousand. They had no real disease. They had symptoms, but these symptoms were not caused by organic disease.

In order to be certain he followed up 150 of these for periods of three to five years and thus satisfied himself that he was usually right in calling these people his well patients. From his studies of these well patients he collected certain records and formed certain opinions, some of which follow:

- 100 per cent of these well people had measles, chicken pox, or whooping cough in childhood.
- 70 per cent had had one or more severe attacks of tonsillitis.
- 50 per cent had had one or more severe colds which they called influenza.
- 22 per cent had had scarlet fever.
- 17 per cent, diphtheria.
- 13 per cent, pneumonia.
- 7 per cent, typhoid.
- 3 per cent, tuberculosis of some organ.
- 50 per cent had had one or more permanent teeth removed.
- 23 per cent had no tonsils.
- 20 per cent had had the appendix removed.

The histories investigated showed that prohibition was either for or against—had made good with Dr. Pitts's patients.

Most of the women on the list suffered from common colds, sore throats, and the men were more fortunate. Few had definite insomnia, though some were poor sleepers. Almost every one on the list had some worry or some cause of unhappiness to contend with. Indigestion was the most frequent symptom which sent these well people to the physicians. It was responsible for the uneasiness of one-third of the total number.

Dr. Pitts's experience taught him a long time ago that certain symptoms did not have the meaning most people thought. Indigestion seldom indicates a disorder of the stomach. A soft, cystic heart murmur, with no history of rheumatism nor other heart symptoms, does not mean heart disease. Albumin in the urine, with no other finding, does not mean Bright's disease; nor does sugar in the urine necessarily mean diabetes. And fallen kidney, without symptoms, does not mean any disease nor call for any treatment.

HIS CURE FOR HEAD LICE.

S. writes: I send you this cheap, sure cure for head lice: Take a tin can or cup; in it put tobacco stems or cigar stems, or tobacco of any sort. Pour on hot water and let steep. Then a strong infusion is got. A little salt and a few drops of a little of this grease just back of ears and crown of hair.

REPLY. Two words of caution. This is not a cure for lice. Wrap the head with the ointment is not. After an hour wash it out with soap and water. Also escape this treatment and later bath out.

Therefore, repeat in about two weeks.

WHAT RINGWORM IS.

A. M. O. writes: Will you please write an article on ringworm? What is its origin? Is it a skin disease or a condition of the body? Is there a remedy? REPLY. Ringworm is a skin disease. It is not related to any constitutional or blood condition. It is caused by a parasite, and it is contagious. When present on nonhairy parts of the body it is easily cured. If it is in a hairy region it is sometimes necessary to remove the hairs to cure ringworm.

THE SIGN ON THE DOTTED LINE.

Chicago, March 31.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—The lease on a store which I purchased recently does not expire until May 1. The landlord has already signed his name to the new lease. 1. If I sign, can he prevent me from selling the store before the new two year lease expires?

2. If I don't sign, is the new lease valid just because he has signed his name?

3. Who must pay the insurance on the plate glass windows, the renter or the owner?

1. Not unless the lease contains an express prohibition. 2. On principle we would regard the tender of the signed lease merely as an offer to be accepted by signing and returning one copy within a reasonable time. In the absence of such return, we would say that the written would be repudiated so that the tenancy would be by the month, but the Illinois cases have tended to treat a lease signed by only one party as like a deed binding on the grantor but not binding on the person who has not signed. 3. In absence of insurance the risk is on the tenant.

UNDESIRABLE NEIGHBORS.

Chicago, April 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I do not see the fact that prostitution was being practiced in the apartment building just cause to break the lease? 2. I have moved out. Must I pay rent for April? Lease is up May 1. J. S. P.

1. Ordinarily a tenant's remedy for misconduct of other tenants lies against those other tenants rather than against the landlord. 2. Yes.

BALLAD OF GOOD FRIDAY

(For John T. McCutcheon.)

When Christ went up to Calvary
Upon an April day,
He passed a withered olive tree
Which was beside the way.

With branches bare from lack of care
It stood against the sky
As stiffly as a soldier stands
Who hears the bugles cry!

And all about it croaked trunk
No feathered bird did sing;
Of all the sad things on that hill
It was the saddest thing.

As Christ went up to Calvary
A single drop of blood
Rolled slowly down his bruised cheek,
And fell where the tree stood.

The stony pathway leading up
Was loud with shouting men,
They struck at Christ with cruel rods
And struck at Him again.

They struck at Christ with pointed rods
And beat Him to the ground,
They spat upon His bleeding face,
And yet He made no sound.

They dragged Him to the highest place
And stopped and stripped Him bare,
And nailed Him to a wooden cross,
And left Him hanging there.

They left Him hanging starkly there
In agony till He died;
And a soldier coming thrust a spear
Into His pale-white side.

The sun fell flaming from the sky,
The day was sudden old,
And darkness covered all the land
And the wind blew cold.

And every green and growing thing
In Jerusalem that day,
Carried up before the wind's breath
And withered away.

But when the crowd had scattered
His people took Him down,
And brought Him to a marble tomb
Which was beyond the town.

When Christ went down from Calvary
Stone-dead in His friends' arms,
The world was silent as the grave
And stiller were all alarms.

The world was dark, and cold and drear,
But bravely in the gloom—
Beside the stony path there stood
An olive tree in bloom.

GEORGE CARROLL.

OH, WE JUST THOUGHT OF something kinda cute—if Len Small (governor), Frank Smith, and Big Bill are defeated at the hustings next week then they'll have to eat crow. And, really, you know, Robert is so nice and fat that he won't be bad eating at that.

Huh! What's So Funny About 'Em?

Dick: He'll probably cuff me up to a peak for telling—but we women must stick together. Tell "The Lutescent O' me to languish. No, indeed, why, Cobb Hall is simply dying to know who she is, but he's too durned stubborn to admit it. Funny about these redheads.

WE REGRET to report to all the kind persons who are sending us collar buttons, street car tickets, used razor blades, Glorious Adventures, cigar bands, and other things found among their souvenirs that it's all off. Senator Bornh has discovered that the majority of people in this great country seemed to be indifferent whether or not Harry Sinclair was paid in full and the stain wiped from the Republican party. Nor did they give a hoot. Brothers and sisters, we thank you for your devoted loyalty and your contributions. But send no more, it's all over.

AMONG OTHER THINGS that rolled into our desk yesterday was a lovely art picture—all colored and everything—and under it the caption, "See York Cathedral—Twenty Centuries of England's History." It is too much. We have trained ourselves to walk past that York Cathedral ad on Boul Mich at Ohio street with our eyes shut so that it won't tempt us. But now, when we're trying to mind our own business and saying nothing to nobody and ruthlessly tearing into the mail, out jumps York.

York! Just in a second we're there—in York—walking up Stonegate—and there's the cathedral right before us. York—with its Rose window and its Five Sisters, its East Window, and the Jesse Window! York! And it's getting towards vacation time—and there's big ships on the sea sailing every few minutes.

SONG TO AN OLD LOVE.

R. H. L.: I couldn't go to the picnic, over at the dunes. In my mind I could smell the fragrant wild mint, which was then in bloom, and could see the lake from the top of Old Baldhead. To miss the lake, the clean white sand, the blossoms, and all the fun, was a bitter blow. I sat dejectedly down by the willows, with my damp little handkerchief clutched in one hand, while great tears rolled down my cheeks. You must have understood, for you called me over to the old woodshed and we clambered over the slab wood to the darkest corner. Then you let me hold Tabby's little, new kittens, one by one. I could feel each little heart-throb as I held them in my cupped palms and laid my cheek against their soft fur. You promised to give me the Maltose one, but the tomat killed him, and the rest had been drowned, so you brought me your best slingshot instead!

CLARA EDMUNDS-HEMINGWAY.

Well—Sorry—But That Isn't It.

Geewh, Dick, and thanks ever so much! It sure is mighty nice of you to print that 26 in your column every day. Such gratuitous publicity is flattering. But tell me, Dick, how in the world did you ever find out I was going to be married on that day? R. S. V. P. KRAEPEN IONNA.

O, SAM!

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 6, 1863.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Parties in high official position say that three weeks ago Secretary Seward sent a dispatch to the British government announcing the determination of an administration to regard the sailing of another vessel like the Alabama from British ports for piratical purposes as an unfriendly act. That is, in a cause for war. It cannot be denied that danger of most serious complications with England is thought by some of our leading men to be increasing daily.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Col. Lafayette Bligham of New York is seeking authority to raise 20,000 men in the border states to operate in Arkansas and Florida.

CAIRO, Ill.—The following order was promulgated by Gen. Thomas: "The 12th regiment Illinois volunteers, having for its short period of service of less than five months been reduced from the aggregate of 840 men to 140 men, principally by desertion, and there having been an utter want of discipline in it, the following officers are hereby discharged from the service of the United States: Col. Robert M. Hundt, Lieut. Col. James D. Pulley, First Lieut. George W. Aiken, regimental quartermaster, and Chaplain Archibald T. Benson." Numerous captains and other company officers also are discharged. General issued an order sending the officers named from the department at 2 p. m. today.

CHICAGO—Inventory of the estate of Stephen A. Douglas has been filed in the County court by D. P. Rhodes, executor. It covers a large number of pieces of real estate valued at several hundred thousand dollars, but there are incumbrances upon it equal to the appraised value of the entire property.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 6, 1898.

WASHINGTON.—President McKinley's message to congress on the Cuban situation, notably in the regions of Mailly-Raineval and Cantigny. They now hold the north and west outskirts of the latter town.

VIENNA.—Emperor Francis Joseph has personally addressed the European sovereigns, inviting them to collective mediation for peace between Spain and the United States.

NEW YORK.—Herbert G. Nichols, former Chicago society and club man, who was arrested last week, has been released over this hemisphere for five years and five months, was captured here today. He was wanted for stealing $20,000 from Henry W. King & Co. of Chicago.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 6, 1918.

PARIS.—The official report tonight said the French, by counter attacks, improved their position at several situations, notably in the regions of Mailly-Raineval and Cantigny. They now hold the north and west outskirts of the latter town.

BATTLE SITUATION.—In a battle which has lasted three days, and which is probably still continuing with utmost fury, the Germans have been hurled massed divisions against the British and the French lines from far north of Albert to a short distance north of Montdidier. Probably there has not been a more sanguinary battle fought since the beginning of the German offensive on March 11 than this, which has for its objective the driving of a wedge between the British and French armies, the cutting of the Paris-Amiens railway south of Amiens, and the capture of that city.

CHICAGO.—At 12:31 this morning the Third Liberty loan was offered to the nation. Bells, whistles, and midnight guns thrilled the city as the day of the drive was born. There were cheers and toasts in the restaurants and in every theater the launching of the drive was announced as the audiences stood and sang "The Star Spangled Banner." At 3:30 a. m. Charles W. Folds, director of sales in Cook county, will sell the first bond to the mother of a soldier who was killed in France.

KEY WEST, Fla.—John J. Mitchell Jr. of Chicago, a student aviator, was seriously injured in an accident which caused the death of Student Aviator Thomas W. Eaton of Wilmington, Del. Their planes collided when flying 100 feet from the ground.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal.—Mrs. Hobart Chatfield-Taylor of Chicago died in the Cottage hospital here after a week's illness.

SCHOOL WINDOWS.

Chicago, April 4.—I would like to call attention of Chicago taxpayers to some of the disgraceful conditions that exist in one of our city high schools of which the writer is a student. In the four years I've been at school things have never been as bad. The windows from all appearances haven't been washed for six months, and our requests to the board of education have brought nothing but the reply that the windows will be washed if they can spare the men who are doing the windows of schools which have not been washed this season. Think of it! It sounds like having a bath once a year! Besides this, for the last two days there has been no paper in the school and no prospect of any as I write this. As far as I can see this neglect is new this year—therefore the cause is quite evident!

Why, if the board can't or won't do anything, can't some level headed men get together and see that their taxes go to the right place? STUDENT.

WHISKY ADS.

Chicago, April 3.—There is much yelping by the drys about the Tribune's attitude on prohibition, but if I am not mistaken, THE TRIBUNE some years back refused to print whisky ads. Let the drys give THE TRIBUNE credit for that good deed which other papers didn't do.

T. P. H.

DISTRUST OF THE POLICE.

Evanson, April 2.—I read Ezra P. Young's article about being insulted by a policeman. When this Mr. Young is asked for jury service and the state's evidence hinges on policeman's testimony you can imagine how Mr. Young will feel.

I served on a jury where police evidence was the vital factor. It took quite a while to convince eight or nine of the jury to overcome their prejudices and give a verdict in accordance with the evidence. And why did these men feel this way? Just because they all had experienced of this kind from insolent and insulting policemen. A uniform makes a lot of difference in some men. I know a lot of nice policemen though.

HOOVER WINS KENTUCKY WITH 29 DELEGATES

Radicals in Wisconsin Hard Pressed.

Louisville, Ky., April 5.—[Special.]—Kentucky's votes in the Republican national convention will go to Herbert Hoover; Kentucky Republicans so voted at their state convention at the Brown theater here yesterday.

The seven delegates from the state at large, as named by the resolutions committee and elected, were: Senator Frederic M. Sackett, Gov. Sampson, Congressman J. M. Robinson, Mrs. A. T. Hart, Mrs. Christine Bradley South, Mrs. Langley, and Dr. W. T. Merchant, Louisville, Negro.

Gov. Flen D. Sampson, permanent chairman of the convention, delivered an address on state affairs.

Wisconsin Race Close.
Milwaukee, Wis., April 5.—[Special.]—The La Follette-Blaine delegates have only a slight edge in the Wisconsin delegation to the Republican National Convention, on the basis of incomplete returns. The race for delegates is so close that the radicals may control the delegation.

The radicals are maintaining the lead in 15 of the 25 district delegate contests, but in several districts the radicals are pressing them hard. The radicals all are instructed for Norris for President. Two of the radicals are pledged to Lowden and one to Hoover. The others are uninstructed. In the race for the four delegates at large, the radicals have won two and the regulars two. Senators La Follette and Blaine, radicals, and Kohler and Kreutzer, regulars, still are far ahead. La Follette, Blaine and Kohler appear to have won. Kreutzer, regular, is maintaining a slight lead over Kronshage, radical, but still the race is in doubt.

DEPEW BURIAL TOMORROW; ALL NATION MOURNS

Will Lie at Rest in Town

Paulding, a niece, were at the deathbed, as well as the household staff, most of whom had been with the family many years.

Some of the comments on Mr. Depew's passing follow:

Gov. Smith—1 learns with great regret of the death of Chauncey M. Depew. He was one of the leading citizens of our country and of our state. He served the people of this state with distinction. He had an army of friends and admirers.

Mayor Walker—The death of Chauncey M. Depew marks the passing of a distinguished American. He helped to make the country a more cheerful place. Many times I have been charmed by his wit and stirred by his eloquence. His life was an example of tolerance, moderation, unflagging energy, reality, and personal youthfulness.

Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg—He was one of our great national figures. He was associated with many of the most important activities of the nation. His death removes one of the most potent and distinguished public men.

Chief Justice William H. Taft—I greatly regret to hear of the death of Mr. Depew. I had the honor of his long friendship and acquaintance. We were Yale men together, and that was a lasting bond between us. He has died full of years and honor. His gift of making other people happy in a rational view of life was extraordinary. His power of lucid, mellifluous, forceful speech was remarkable.

Union League club of Chicago—Senator Depew for forty years was a distinguished honorary member of the Union League club of Chicago. He occupied an important and unusual place in the commercial, industrial, and public life of our country from the days of its early development to the present. Few men had the opportunity and ability to render as much and as valuable service to the country as he did. We note his passing with real regret and extend sincere sympathy to you in your bereavement.

A Smiling Hero of 8,000 Banquets

NEW YORK, April 5.—(Special.)—The death of former Senator Chauncey M. Depew ended a career such as few men live. As his years advanced he became almost a legendary figure—a smiling man who confidently expected to live to be more than a hundred, who believed in people, in work, in play, and in optimism. He was a railroad builder, wit, politician, raconteur, and philosopher until the end.

Age scarcely touched him, and that only outwardly. At ninety-three his mind was as keen as when he was thirty-nine. He was looking forward to attending the Republican national convention and to celebrating his ninety-fourth birthday April 23.

When he was 100, he said, he might "take up golf." He was a prime optimist. There was in his philosophy no room for the calamity howler.

Two phrases he abominated. One, "What's the use?" the other, "Why should I?"

"A hungry world," he said, "answers both questions with opportunities for service, helpfulness and good fellowship."

He was a notable dinner-out, back in the 90s, when massive banquets were the rule. But he always took the best care of himself.

"I never experimented with strange foods, and I never worried." He drank water and champagne, of the latter, saying, "I have seen a few suggestive of Niagara, but I never was submerged."

By his own estimate, he attended 8,000 banquets. Not he even knew how many times he had been a speaker.

His political and business life reached back to the roots of modern politics and business. Born in 1834, he entered Yale in 1852 when important problems agitated the country. He came to the "anti-Nebraska men" who three years later, became the Republican party. Graduating in 1856, he threw himself into politics and in 1858 was elected a delegate to the Republican state convention. That same year he began legal practice and received $1.75 as his first fee.

Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt started him railroad. Young Depew had been offered the appointment of United States minister to Japan at a salary of $7,000 a year. While he was hesitating whether to accept, Commodore Vanderbilt offered him the job of attorney for the New York and Harlem railroad, and the Hudson River railroad, at a salary far less than the salary as minister.

Mr. Depew spoke of his appointment to Commodore Vanderbilt, who replied: "Railroads are the career for a young man; there is nothing in politics. Don't be a damned fool!"

That decided Mr. Depew, who declined the appointment as minister and entered the service of the railroad on Jan. 1, 1860, and remained with the Vanderbilt system the rest of his life.

Mr. Depew served two terms as United States senator, from 1899 to 1911.

Always alive to modern progress, he made his first address over the radio shortly after he passed his ninety-first birthday.

Among characteristic sayings that Depew gave the public through his annual birthday interviews included: "The automobile has wiped out the picturesque, charming, and delightful family horse and buggy that did more than any other thing to promote matrimony and happy domestic life."

"I am thoroughly orthodox. I absolutely believe there is a just God. I think that God gives everybody a square deal. I believe in church going. A young man starting without God will be a failure."

"If there is anything you like too much it is well to watch it."

Of prohibition: "It has done away with the saloon, that's certain. But we hear so much of what has taken its place that I am uncertain. Before the amendment was passed I was for prohibition, but not as a constitutional amendment. I do not believe in loading up that dear old constitution with a lot of police laws."

"Things that make you unhappy very seldom happen. Get a mental hobby. A mental hobby is more necessary than a physical one. And cultivate your sense of humor."

"In politics do not buck the machine."

"The younger generations have always been about alike. Flapperism is a style, I think. I have gone through the period when the glory of a woman was to have her hair down to her heels. That will come again. I have seen the hoop skirts, the bustles, the wasp waist which ruined the digestion of the women at the time, and I feel no terror about flapperism."

"If you would live long cultivate humanity. Keep up your contact with men and women—but be careful of women. The man who is fortunate enough to win the right kind of a wife has a decided advantage in the longevity race over a lone traveler. I am one of the fortunate."

"Most successful men have owed their success to their absolute confidence in the future of the United States."

"The only sure guides to success are character, health and happiness."

"This is a mighty good world. . . and I want to stay here as long as I can."

MEXICAN TRAIN OVERTURNED IN REBEL DISTRICT

Troops Discover Cave, Enemy Stronghold.

BY JOHN CORNYN.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

MEXICO CITY, April 5.—A passenger train between Parral and Chihuahua yesterday was derailed, and the express, first and second class coaches and a gondola carrying the military guard all were derailed and overturned.

The cause of the accident and number killed or injured has not been ascertained. Owing to the nature of the accident, the casualties are likely to be heavy. A military and medical train carrying nurses and doctors hurried to the scene, which is in the neighborhood of the recent rebel activity.

Near Jalapa, in the state of Guanajuato, during the last week, rebels have been active. More than a dozen fights between bandits and federal forces have taken place. Rebels assaulted four towns in the state, but in every case were driven off by local guards, aided by small military garrisons.

Discover Rebel Cave.

For several months rebels have been using an immense cave in the neighborhood of Jalapa as a rendezvous and hiding place for arms, ammunition, food, clothing, and as a center for Catholic religious services. The cave was protected by the general good will of the neighborhood, which is strongly Catholic. A special guard of Catholic young men was detailed to protect the cave from discovery at the hands of federal agents. From the cave went forth armaments and rebels into the neighborhood. It is alleged, and parties regularly were organized to raid small villages and ranches not protected by military guards.

Yesterday, the military police discovered the cave and two others, near Jalapa, in which immense quantities of war material were found, comprising machine guns, bombs, ammunition, machinery for reloading cartridges, rifles, and pistols, immense quantities of lead, and other material for manufacturing bullets, paraphernalia for religious worship, priestly vestments, and clothing for soldiers. Evidently the guards organized to protect the caves were given a warning, as the occupants, with the exception of two Indian guards, escaped. They left behind extensive quantities of revolutionary propaganda, dodgers, and several machines for printing propaganda.

The two guards arrested said the principal cave was the headquarters for Father Daniel Vega, who has been a leader of revolutionary bands for more than two years. He is said to have led the rebels, which more than a year ago held up the Mexico City-Guadalupe train near Ocotlan, when more than 100 persons were killed or wounded.

COOLIDGE HANDS OFF CHICAGO'S
PRIMARY FIGHTWon't Interfere in Dry
Raids.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service)

Washington, D. C., April 5.—(Special.)—President Coolidge has not interfered in the Chicago political or prohibition situation and has no present intention of even discussing the matter officially with interested members of his cabinet.

Reports that President Coolidge had summoned Attorney General Sargent and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon to the White House to discuss reports that government agents were intruding in the local primary campaign were emphatically denied today.

Mellon on Way to Bermuda. Acting Secretary of the Treasury stated in response to questions that he was certain Secretary Mellon had not discussed the Chicago situation recently with the President. Mr. Mellon is on his way to Bermuda, but not mentioned any such conference with him before his departure.

Attorney General Sargent expressed surprise at reports that he had discussed any phase of the tangled crime situation at Chicago with the President. He said his decision not to allow the United States marshal at Chicago to wear in additional duties for use at the Chicago polls April 10 was reached without consultation at the White House.

It was emphasized today that the President considers his cabinet members perfectly qualified to handle situations developing in their departments in connection with the enforcement of federal laws in the Chicago territory. Neither Secretary Mellon nor Attorney General Sargent has asked for presidential advice, it was said, in dealing with the present difficulties at Chicago.

Ignores Mayor's Actions. There is no indication that President Coolidge will take any official notice of the Thompson "draft Coolidge" propaganda which the Chicago mayor is utilizing in an attempt to put a crimp in the "Lowden for President" movement.

All official quarters deny that police is back of the present unusual federal activity at Chicago. If politicians are mixed up in the "liquor racket" that is their own lookout and they must take their chances along with other law violators, prohibition authorities assert. The startling ramifications of the home industry at Chicago and reports of disrespect for the dry law sent to the treasury and department of justice are declared responsible for the present government campaign in that territory. Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Lawson asserted today that the special dry group and its Chicago because of the necessity for an independent specialized group in dealing with the situation.

After Big Conspirators.

"There is absolutely no politics in the dry activity at Chicago," he said.

We have special dry groups in every big city. There are 120 men in the entire special group which was organized last fall and put under the charge of Alf Otstul, assistant prohibition commissioner. Twenty agents were sent to Chicago close to six months ago. George Golding, the chief, was sent there in December. They are on the job to get the big conspirators in the liquor business. If politicians are in the business they will have to take their own chances.

Reports that Martin B. Madden (Rep., Ill.), chairman of the appropriation committee and a Thompson adherent, had been using his influence to persuade the President and interested members of the cabinet to take cognizance of the federal activities at Chicago was flatly denied by the veteran legislator.

Resentment against the "quick trigger" activities of the prohibition special agents and their propensity to identify themselves as secret service men is growing among other government investigating bodies in Washington. Secret service officials especially are aroused because the dry agents so frequently identify themselves as secret service agents.

U. S. TO GIVE UP DRY

United States Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday upheld the contention of city and state officials that a writ of habeas corpus cum causa transferring to the federal court the proceedings against Myron M. Caffey, prohibition agent charged with shooting William Beatty, municipal court bailiff, should be quashed and the matter remain in state jurisdiction. The order will be presented for approval on Wednesday, the day after the preliminary Caffey hearing while remaining in the jurisdiction of the federal court. Judge Wilkerson suggested to Corporation Counsel Ettelson that he confer with State's Attorney Crowe and that any state action be hastened to permit the federal court to assume jurisdiction of the trial.

The question for decision here is, has the case sought for transfer to this court been commenced in the state court so that it may be brought here for trial," said Judge Wilkerson in his opinion.

The language of the United States Supreme court requires that there must be an indictment before such transfer would be proper. I am therefore of the opinion that the writ of habeas corpus which has been issued in this case should be quashed. It is not for the court to go beyond section 23 of the federal law to provide protection for revenue officers.

Northrup Argues for Writ.

John E. Northrup, first assistant United States district attorney, in arguing in support of the writ urged the possibility of state authorities delaying disposal of the case against Caffey. He said that since Caffey is a dry agent quick action would interfere with his work as a federal employee.

No agent of Mr. Mellon has conferred with me or any of my assistants," District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson said yesterday. "With reference to a story pertaining to the President of the United States and cabinet officials, I know nothing of it."

W. H. Moran, chief of the secret service, is having a special investigation made into the charges filed by District Attorney Johnson against Thomas Callaghan, chief of the secret service in Chicago, it was learned. Moran, according to Washington dispatches, also resented the activities of quick trigger dry agents who represent themselves as secret service men. Callaghan was charged with disloyalty due to newspaper interviews in which he was quoted as disapproving of such representations.

Prisoner Accuses Agents.

Charges of attempting to bribe a government officer against Anthony Ponazzo, 216 Kensington street, were dismissed yesterday before Commissioner James E. Glass on motion of Assistant District Attorney Northrup.

When released on bail Ponazzo told newspaper reporters that he was arrested by dry agents under the direction of George E. Golding and held incommunicado for three days. He declared he had been abused and threatened by the agents. He said he first met them while giving them information on liquor violations on the far south side. It is expected that he will be named in an indictment later.

MISS PANKHURST
BOASTS OF SON;
SILENT ON PAPAEnglish Suffragette Is Proud of Baby.

(Copyright, 1928, by the New York Times.)

LONDON, April 5.—Four-month old Richard Kier Pethick Pankhurst gurgled approvingly today when it was suggested that he might one day become Labor prime minister of Great Britain and follow a political career in the footsteps of his mother, Sylvia Pankhurst, the suffragette leader of previous days.

Already he has obtained unconventional fame because his mother will not tell who his father is except that he is "interested in politics" and is "a foreigner." Everything about this child's babyhood seems unconventional except that his mother is perfectly conventional in proclaiming what a wonderful baby she has.

Hopes He Will Be Great Man.

"I hope he will be a great man and, if he enters politics, carry on the family tradition," said Miss Pankhurst. The child has a keen, intelligent look, with a high forehead and finely shaped head. In most ways he resembles his mother, though his eyes are black, while hers are blue. His first name is Richard, after Miss Pankhurst's father, Richard M. Pankhurst, of Manchester, a pioneer in the early days of the suffrage fight in Lancashire. The second name is for Kier Hardie, the great labor leader, and the third for Frederick W. Pethick-Lawrence, the Labor parliamentarian who went to jail with Miss Pankhurst in 1912, during the wild days of the militant suffrage agitation.

Wants to Perpetuate Name.

As for the last name, Miss Pankhurst repeated quite calmly and casually that she had no brothers living and there is no one to perpetuate the Pankhurst name. Therefore, by agreement with his father, the child has taken the mother's name. Emphatically, Miss Pankhurst denied that little Richard was like a "eugenic baby." She added that a child was more beautiful in every way when its parents loved each other devotedly. Miss Pankhurst seemed gentler and milder than in the exciting days when her militant suffragette had England in an uproar. She indicated that she was not concealing her husband's name, but was leaving him to discuss it if he wished to.

"I don't want to intrude my personality on him at all," she said, taking the opportunity to assert her views on marriage as a purely personal matter between two independent persons who love each other.

NO OIL TAIN ON AL SMITH, WALSH DECLARES

Defends McAdoo, Too, in Reply to Robinson.

(Chicago Tribune From Service.)
Washington, D. C., April 5.—[Special.]—Senator Thomas J. Walsh (Dem., Mont.), replying in the senate today to recent charges of Senator Robinson (Rep., Ind.), denied Democratic responsibility for the Sinclair-Doheny-Fall oil scandal and defended Gov. Al Smith of New York and William G. McAdoo, whose names have been linked with the oil scandals by the Indiana senator.

In the course of his reply to Robinson, Senator Walsh paid high tribute to Gov. Smith, asserting that the New York executive needed no defense and branding Robinson's attack on the ground that Gov. Smith had appointed Harry Sinclair a state racing commissioner as "a piffle."

Fays All High Tribes.
"The New York governor is a most extraordinary man," declared the Montana senator. "Even calumny has not dared to assert that he is not an honest man. The heinous offense with which he is accused is the appointment of Harry Sinclair as a member of the New York racing commission or of continuing him in office."

Senator Walsh pointed out that Robinson's charge that Sinclair contributed to the Smith gubernatorial campaign in 1920 has not been substantiated and continued, that even if it had been proved, the oil scandals had not been thought of in 1920 and at that time "no one would find any particular culpability upon the part of a manager of the New York campaign in 1920 in taking a contribution from Sinclair if one were offered."

Senator Walsh asserted there was no secret about the fact that McAdoo, after leaving the Wilson cabinet, was retained by E. L. Doheny as counsel. McAdoo is now a private citizen and, the senator continued, has "exercised the inalienable right of an American citizen to have a choice for President and he has the hardihood to express that choice."

Denies Robinson Charge.
After exhaustively reviewing the history of public land and naval reserve leasing legislation, Senator Walsh passionately denied Robinson's charge that he had "supported" the amendment under which naval reserves were thrown open for development by private oil operators.

Walsh pointed out that the amendment was adopted by the unanimous vote of the senate and for the first time since he undertook the investigation which exploded the Sinclair-Fall-Doheny scandals and has resulted in the recovery of a billion dollars' worth of oil and land by the government, he claimed a measure of credit for his efforts.

"The press of the country," he said, "has been kind enough to give me credit to some extent for that result. If the stockholders of a corporation had employed an attorney to recover property fraudulently or corruptly conveyed away by the directors, and the recovery was made, fees commensurate with the labor involved and the value

FEDERAL JUDGES SAID TO BREAK LAW AGAINST EMPLOYING RELATIVES

(Chicago Tribune From Service.)
Washington, D. C., April 5.—[Special.]—Wholesale evasion of the spirit of the law prohibiting federal judges from employing close relatives in their offices or courts will be disclosed when the house judiciary committee holds hearings on his pending amendment, it was predicted today by Representative La Guardia (Rep., N. Y.).

At present the law prohibits federal judges from employing relatives by affinity or consanguinity in their courts. La Guardia's amendment would ban relatives by marriage and at the same time prohibit the judges specifically from employing any close relative in any capacity by adding the words "clerk and stenographer" so as to embrace the duties of a private secretary.

Mr. La Guardia refused to disclose any of the information in his possession which prompted introduction of the amendment, asserting only that many judges have taken advantage of the existing law did not bar relatives from employment as private secretaries to judges.

A notable case which he said would be cited to the judiciary committee is that of an Oklahoma federal district judge who has carried his wife and two stepdaughters on his pay roll at various times as his private secretaries.

of the recovered property would be allowed the attorney.

"If I had been thus employed and were successful as well as was the case here, the court probably would make allowance for attorney's fees that would make me richer than I ever expected to be or hoped to be or desired to be. But I have been very much more amply repaid, as I think, by the gratitude of the American people which the senator from Indiana would like now to snatch away from me."

HEYWORTH WILL LEAVE FAMILY BULK OF ESTATE

The will of James O. Heyworth, contractor and one time member of the United States shipping board, was filed for probate in Waukegan yesterday, disposing of an estate estimated at $500,000. His widow, Mrs. Marticia G. W. Heyworth, of Lake Forest, and their two minor children, Francis D. and James O. Heyworth, are left the bulk of the property in trust. Charity is given $15,000 and four employees of his contracting company are bequeathed $10,000.

Mr. Heyworth died March 15 after being taken to his Lake Forest home in accordance with his death bed request when he was told by his doctors in a sanitarium at Phoenix, Ariz., that his end was near. He was 61 years old.

Charity bequests are: St. Luke's hospital, $5,000; Visiting Nurse association, $5,000; Presbyterian hospital, $5,000; and the Alice Home hospital of Lake Forest, $5,000.

Employees remembered were: William S. Osgood, 1138 East 44th street, $4,000; John J. Tragus, 2740 Winnamac avenue, $5,000; Thomas Oesth, 1007 Warwick avenue, $5,000; and Emil E. Hohl, 65 North Edgewood avenue, La Grange. The testament was filed by Attorney C. W. Rhodes of the firm of Hayer, Meyer, Austrian and Platt.

PLAN TO PAY OFF SUTTER DEBT OF ARMOUR FINISHED

New Company Proposed to $7,123,000 Bondholders

BY O. A. MATHER.

Plans for clearing up obligations of the late J. Ogden Armour to the bondholders of the Sutter Basin company were announced last night. The plan, which prompted introduction of a bill by Mr. Armour, is to create a new company, which includes Silas H. Strawn and Ralph M. Shaw of Chicago, will send out a letter to the bondholders today asking their approval.

The plan contemplates a new company to take over the 45,000 acres of California land whose reclamation was an ambitious, but disastrous, project fostered by Mr. Armour. It is revealed that Mr. Armour expended about $17,000,000 on the project and also guaranteed payment of principal and interest on $5,000,000 bonds sold by the company. There are $7,123,000 of these bonds outstanding and a semi-annual interest payment of $214,000 was defaulted on Feb. 1.

All Goes to New Company.

Mr. Armour's investment was represented by stock of the company and warrants for reclamation district bonds held by the company. But nothing of the investment will be realized by his heirs. Mrs. Armour has agreed that the $5,165,000 of warrants, which Mr. Armour had pledged to secure the company's obligations, and also Mr. Armour's stock interest of $11,450,000 will be turned over to the new company.

The new company will take over all property of the Sutter Basin company. It will sell $2,000,000 of warrants to a syndicate, retaining $4,165,000. From the proceeds of the sale the new company will pay off 15 per cent of the Sutter Basin bonds. For the remaining 85 per cent of the bonds the new company will exchange an equal amount of new bonds and one share of stock for each $100 of bonds now held by the bondholders.

Stock in Lien of Interest.
The effect of this plan will be that a holder of a $1,000 Sutter Basin bond will receive $150 in cash, $350 in new bonds, and ten shares of stock. The stock is given partly in lieu of the interest already defaulted. Then the new company will have slightly more than $5,000,000 of ten year 6 per cent bonds and 71,000 shares of stock, representing ownership of 45,000 acres and more than $1,000,000 in other assets.

The committee points out that the alternative of the plan is long and expensive litigation by the bondholders in foreclosing the land and satisfying warrant claims. While the bondholders might sue Mr. Armour's estate under his guaranty, his pledged assets would not satisfy a judgment.

"Assuming that the bondholders sue on the guaranty," the committee says, "the only hope they have of collecting a judgment will be to attempt to set aside certain conveyances made between Mr. and Mrs. Armour, which means long, expensive, and uncertain litigation which, even if successful, probably would not result in the recovery of assets sufficient in amount to satisfy the debt."

Refers as 'Oil Venture.'
Although not specified in the letter, this paragraph is said to refer to the purchase by Mrs. Armour of her husband's majority interest in the Universal Oil Products company. Several years before Mr. Armour's death his wife is understood to have bought this interest for $1,500,000 and Mr. Armour used the money to pay interest on the Sutter Basin bonds.

The committee has fixed May 1 as the limit of time for the bondholders to approve the plan and deposit their securities, and it is stated that practically all of the bonds must be deposited to make the plan operative.

In the event that the plan is accepted by the Sutter Basin bondholders, it is said the clearing up of Mr. Armour's obligations to Armour & Co., the packing company, will be facilitated. At the time of his death, Mr. Armour was said to owe around $14,000,000 to the company, the debt being secured by stock in the company and some $5,000,000 of other collateral pledged by his relatives.

ROGERS PEET CLOTHES

When Sir Harry Lauder came into one of Rogers Peet's New York stores a few weeks ago for a Scotch Mist* topcoat, the mon was verra canny, indeed.

Called for a glass of water to prove the coat's wet-proofness himself! He proved it, all right, and took the coat.

Of course, Scotch Mists* appealed to his Scotch thrift, for they are raincoats as well as handsome cheviot overcoats, and he was really getting two coats for the price of one!

The fresh new patterns and colorings of our Spring Scotch Mists* have an equal appeal to every man who wants a particularly smart overcoat; and their style never detracts from the all-round service Scotch Mists* give.

SECOND OFFICER IN "LIGHT OPERA" TRIAL LOSES JOB

British Court Martial Puts Him on Half Pay.

BY H. H. WALL.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
(Copyright: 1928: By The Chicago Tribune.)
GIBRALTAR, April 5.—Capt. Kenneth G. B. Dewar is dismissed from his ship and severely reprimanded. This was the sentence, the same as that pronounced upon Commander H. M. Daniel two days ago, inflicted tonight upon Capt. Dewar, after he had been found guilty on one of two charges arising out of the incidents on the battleship Royal Oak. He will remain on half pay until appointed to another ship. The charges against Capt. Dewar were of accepting and forwarding to the vice admiral commanding the fleet, a letter from Commander Daniel, the terms of which were subversive to discipline. Today's earlier proceedings were notable for the statements by witnesses concerning the "uncontrollable fits of temper" exhibited by Rear Admiral Bernard St. G. Collard, chief of the now famous dance band incidents aboard the Royal Oak.

"Uncontrollable Temper."
In the evidence today, Capt. Dewar declared: "The two incidents of the dance in honor of the disembarkation of Rear Admiral Collard, which led to the trouble, were due to the same cause—namely: uncontrollable fits of temper."

The chaplain of the Royal Oak also told of an interview he had with the rear admiral after the dance incident, and of declaring he remonstrated with the admiral for his "ungentlemanly conduct." The rear admiral then threatened him with court martial. The chaplain added he had heard many conversations on the ship about the admiral and was obliged to object. One man referred to Rear Admiral Collard as a "bloody little swine," he said.

Capt. Dewar made a telling speech for the defense—more as a trained legal advocate than as a sailor.

Discipline for Collard.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
LONDON, April 5.—The Royal Oak incident cropped up in the commons today when a member asked the first lord of the admiralty whether any disciplinary action had been taken regarding Rear Admiral Collard. First Lord W. C. Bridgeman replied: "Rear Admiral Collard was ordered to strike his flag by the commander in chief of the Mediterranean fleet."

George Cites Tribute
Levying by Negro.

Washington, D. C., April 5.—(AP)—A senate investigation of the disposition of federal patronage in Georgia is asked in a resolution prepared today by Senator George (Dem., Ga.) as an outgrowth of the charges made by L. S. Peterson, Douglas (Ga.) postmaster, who killed himself recently. Peterson said he had been forced to contribute heavily to the Republican campaign fund in order to hold his job. The postoffice department has promised an inquiry.

More "Tribute Levying."
Atlanta, Ga., April 5.—(AP)—Additional charges of tribute levying by the Republican party in Georgia were made today. J. E. Mathis, superintendent of the American, Ga., public schools, wrote "put up" $250 for the appointment of one of his graduates as rural mail carrier, but that another applicant, who failed on the civil service examination, "raised the ante, and got the job."

Mrs. L. S. Peterson, widow of the Douglas postmaster, who killed his assistant and himself, made public letters left by her husband. One envelope, marked "personal," contained a letter from Mrs. Sallie P. Lang, postmistress at White Oak, Ga., dated Feb. 6, 1923, saying $100 had been demanded of her for reappointment as postmistress, and when she refused to pay it she failed to retain the post.

Demand More Funds.
She also made public the letter found on Peterson's body and addressed to him. It read: "The Republican state central committee is trying to raise some funds for their national committee, B. J. Davis, Atlanta, Ga., and if you are in a position to help and are inclined to do so, the same will be appreciated. Send your contribution to Mr. R. H. Johnson, Ocala, Ga., and you will receive receipt for same."

Davis, a Negro, is regarded as the federal patronage dispenser for Georgia. Peterson charged that he had made forced contributions of $3,000 to the state Republican organization out of a salary of $2,700 a year, and that he had been so driven in debt as a result that he could not carry on.

REFUSES TO PROSECUTE BOYS.
Five boys arrested on a charge of automobile theft were dismissed yesterday when Arthur Crachy, 6724 Houston avenue, owner of the car, refused to prosecute them. The youths are Edward Hardy, 2841 East 103rd street; Leroy Crachy, Willis Bromley, Louis Caprelli, and Frank Swamy.

DEMAND SMALL NAME RECEIVER FOR LOAN ASS'N

Minority shareholders of the Friendship Building and Loan Association of South Chicago have addressed a personal appeal to Gov. Len Small in an endeavor to have State Auditor Oscar Nelson appoint a receiver for the organization and launch an investigation into its allegedly involved finances, it became known yesterday.

Attorney George J. Avery, representing the shareholders' faction desiring action on the part of Auditor Nelson, announced that on March 31 he directed a personal letter to Gov. Small setting forth the side of his clients. As yet he has received no reply from the governor, he states.

Albert J. Galliste, former secretary and treasurer of the association, was in May, 1927, given an indeterminate sentence of from one to twenty years in the state penitentiary by Judge

William J. Lindsay, in Criminal court, following his plea of guilty that he embezzled $378,890 of the association's funds.

Attorney Avery charges in his communication to Gov. Small that the state auditor's office knew of the existence of shortages in the association's funds long before the stockholders were aware of the situation, and that two requests that a receiver be appointed have been ignored by Mr. Nelson.

Ohio-Indiana Dry Chief Fails in Civil Service Exam.

Washington, D. C., April 5.—(AP)—W. H. Walker, administrator for the prohibition district including Ohio and Indiana, failed to pass his civil service examination and Commissioner Doran said today he could not be reappointed. Walker has been in ill health for several months, and Doran said this probably accounted for his failure to stand the examination, inasmuch as he had a good record and was regarded as a first class officer.

COOLIDGE FIGHTS FLOOD MEASURE AS SPENDTHRIFT

Alarmed, He Calls In Madden to Rescue.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Washington, D. C., April 5.—[Special.]—President Coolidge today commenced active efforts to eliminate features of the pending flood control legislation that are objectionable to him. He summoned Representative Madden [Rep., Ill.] to the White House. Following the conference Mr. Madden asserted that the President is aroused over the possibility that the Jones bill, as amended by the house flood control committee, will mean an expenditure of possibly a billion and a half, according to the army engineers.

May Send Message.
It was hinted that the President may send a special message to the house urging amendments to the bill. Not only does he object to waiving all local contributions but he fears the provision by which a board may substitute features of the Mississippi river commission's plan for the less extensive Jadwin plan will run the total cost up far above the $25 million dollar authorization. Mr. Madden said he believes the bill should be amended to place a definite limit on expenditures and to give the President greater control over the program.

Flood control legislation was the subject of a lively row before the house rules committee.
Flood and Flood Clash.
Representative Frear [Rep., Wis.], member of the flood control committee, engaged in a controversy with Representative Madden [Rep., Ill.], his committee chairman, who appeared before the rules committee to ask a special rule for the consideration of the flood bill. Representative Frear charged that the bill as reported is likely to cost a billion dollars. He declared that big lumber interests are behind the movement to make the federal government pay the entire cost. He said it was reported that the Edward Hines Lumber company of Chicago was one of the companies interested and that former Senator William Lorimer of Illinois, who has been active for the bill, had frankly admitted his ownership of land in the flood area.

One of the charges made against Mr. Frear was that a bill to reduce local payments toward the Sacramento valley flood project was added to the Mississippi flood bill without action by the committee. This was denied by Mr. Frear.

It was indicated that the rules committee will hold up the special rule until next week.

Six Indicted in State's Drive Against Suit Clubs

True bills were reported today by the grand jury yesterday against six alleged agents for so-called suit clubs. James V. Michie, H. B. Schaeffer, J. Miller, F. Fink, L. R. Montgomery, and Charles Dan were the men named on charges of obtaining money by false pretenses and operating a lottery. Complaints against the renewal of suit clubs have become prevalent within the last month and it was decided by Assistant State's Attorney Edwin J. Spiro, in charge of the grand jury, to put them out of business by indictments.

PROMISES NOT TO TRY SUICIDE.
Mrs. Anna Bremer, 52, of 3728 26th street, who three times attempted suicide, was discharged yesterday in the Shakespeare avenue court on a charge of disorderly conduct. She promised the court she would never attempt to take her life again.

SUE TO REMOVE CITY'S CLAIM TO STATE ST. ALLEY

Washington Porter, II, and William Waller Jr., capitalists of Chicago and Palm Beach respectively, filed a bill in the Circuit court yesterday to remove the city's claim to a blind alley in the rear of their property on the southwest corner of Wacker drive and North State street.

Part of the claim of the petitioners is based on the city's not improving the alley, a contention similar to that of the Stone street case. They further claim the alley was not included in the original town map of 1837 and that the official plot of 1855, which included the alley, did not comply with the statutes in that the survey was not made by the county surveyor or a deputy.

The alley, the plaintiffs aver, is private property and is part of the estate of the late John H. Dunham, undeveloped for many years, because of a restriction in his will. The alley opens on State street, is ten feet wide and eighty and a half feet deep. It has not been used since the street level was changed.

Hold Suspect for Beating Ticket Agent in Lombard

C. W. Clark, former taxi driver in Lombard, was held to the grand jury in $50,000 bonds for assault with intent to kill and attempted robbery, by Justice of the Peace F. W. Robinson, in that suburb yesterday. Clark last Monday beat A. P. Fransen, ticket agent of the Aurora, Elgin and Chicago railroad in Lombard, over the head with a club, and attempted to rob the safe in the station, but he was unable to open it and was captured by Policeman Ira Claxton.

Heirs of Mrs. Dickinson Sue to Partition Estate

Heirs at law of the late Mrs. Mary Alice Dickinson, whose purported will was thrown out of court with a charge of forgery against Attorney John H. Ryan, yesterday filed a bill in the Superior court to partition two pieces of real estate in her $100,000 estate in accordance with the inheritance laws.

POLICEMAN SLAIN AS HE TRIES TO QUESTION TRIO

Veteran of 22 Years on Force Beaten at Draw.

CRIMINAL COURT.

James Krugenstein, janitor, sentenced to 1 year in the Reformatory by Judge Otto Kern.

Joe Bachinski, robbery, sentenced to 1 year in the Reformatory by Judge Otto Kern.

Joe Johnson, Robert Sorger, and Alvin Henderson, conspiracy to rob, sentenced to 1 to 3 years each in the penitentiary by Judge Otto Kern.

Edward Nelson, burglary (changed to robbery), sentenced to 1 year in the penitentiary by Judge Otto Kern.

West. John Chiska, 43 years old, in charge of the plain clothes men at the Chicago police station, was shot and killed yesterday when he attempted to question three youths. He died in the Keystone hospital following several blood transfusions from other policemen, despite the efforts of members of squad 6 of the fire department, who kept him alive for several hours by use of a pump.

Five minutes after Chiska reported his duty yesterday a telephone call came from a candy store at 2218 North LaSalle avenue, that three suspicious looking men were loitering near the shop.

Chiska started for the place alone in his auto. When he reached there he entered the shop and talked with Wiesniewski, who pointed to the men standing across the street. Chiska approached them.

When he was about feet away one of the trio drew a pistol. Chiska reached for his own gun. As he did he was hit in the chest. The first bullet struck Chiska in the right hand and entered his abdomen. As he fell the assassin fired three shots into the unconscious policeman and the three men fled in a car. The car was parked at the curb. A block away they were seen changing machines with another. He was away in their car while the assassin drove away in his.

Paul, Steve, and Red.

Capt. James Doherty questioned several men who were taken into custody by Chief of Detectives Michael Grady, who hurried to the scene, later said that the assailants were known as Paul, Steve, and Red.

West. Chiska entered the police department twenty-two years ago. He is survived by two children, Lucille, 14, and Kerstin, 11, and his widow, who lives at 2418 South Springfield avenue.

MRS. LEFFMAN ASKS DIVORCE AS HUSBAND IS FREED

The finale to the romance of Mrs. Catherine O'Malley Leffman, pretty daughter of Police Captain Martin J. O'Malley at the summer station, with Henry J. Leffman, auto accessories salesman, was forecast yesterday with the filing of a divorce suit by the young wife in the Circuit court.

Leffman was arraigned before Municipal Judge Daniel P. Trude yesterday morning on a charge of assault and battery against his wife. His attorney, Cameron Lattin, obtained dismissal of the charge when no prosecuting witness appeared. But it was announced that the divorce suit had been filed and that there was no hope of a reconciliation between the young couple.

Leffman recently charged that his wife was being held a prisoner in her father's home at 4743 Bosworth avenue and threatened habeas corpus proceedings to bring his wife into court to tell whether or not she still loved him. Mrs. Leffman, in the divorce suit, left no doubt as to the state of her affections toward her husband. She charged he beat her severely twice.

WAR CONSCRIPT BILL LEADS TO HOUSE RUMPUS

South Dakotan Accuses and Is Accused.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., April 5.—(Special.)—Supporters of legislation providing for the conscription of man power and presidential control of labor, industry, and wealth in war time were sharply criticized by house leaders today when an attempt was made to force action on the Capper-Johnson conscription bill this year.

As the session is so far advanced that action on the Capper bill would be virtually impossible at this session, Rep. Johnson (Rep., S. D.), a world war veteran, presented a petition asking that his bill be discharged from the military affairs committee. The move was made under parliamentary privileges.

Charge Committee Neglect.

In a lengthy speech Mr. Johnson charged that, while his bill had been before the house military committee since 1923, he had been unable to persuade the committee to consider it.

"I now invoke the most drastic rule of this house to force the military committee to report out the bill and give the house an opportunity to act," said Mr. Johnson. "If 218 members of this body sign this petition we will get action."

Representative Johnson had hardly concluded before Chairman Morin (Rep., Pa.) of the military committee and its two ranking members were on the floor, denouncing him for attempting to jam his bill through the house without following routine procedure.

All three charged that Mr. Johnson had not asked for hearings on the measure.

Rebuffed for His Criticism.

Chairman Morin asserted that he had failed to find in the committee files where Mr. Johnson or any one else had asked for a hearing.

"I am surprised at Representative Johnson's manner of presenting this legislation," Chairman Morin said.

"So am I," chimed in Representative McSwain (Dem., S. C.). "By what devious route does the gentleman from South Dakota propose to bring this matter before this committee? This measure is too important to be passed upon in an ill-considered way. We must have hearings and patient study."

"If Representative Johnson asks for hearings we will sit up nights for that purpose."

Members of congress do not consider that there is the slightest chance of approval for the Capper-Johnson bill this year.

D.), a world war veteran, presented a petition asking that his bill be discharged from the military affairs committee. The move was made under parliamentary privileges.

Charge Committee Neglect.

In a lengthy speech Mr. Johnson charged that, while his bill had been before the house military committee since 1923, he had been unable to persuade the committee to consider it.

"I now invoke the most drastic rule of this house to force the military committee to report out the bill and give the house an opportunity to act," said Mr. Johnson. "If 218 members of this body sign this petition we will get action."

Representative Johnson had hardly concluded before Chairman Morin (Rep., Pa.) of the military committee and its two ranking members were on the floor, denouncing him for attempting to jam his bill through the house without following routine procedure.

All three charged that Mr. Johnson had not asked for hearings on the measure.

Rebuffed for His Criticism.

Chairman Morin asserted that he had failed to find in the committee files where Mr. Johnson or any one else had asked for a hearing.

"I am surprised at Representative Johnson's manner of presenting this legislation," Chairman Morin said.

"So am I," chimed in Representative McSwain (Dem., S. C.). "By what devious route does the gentleman from South Dakota propose to bring this matter before this committee? This measure is too important to be passed upon in an ill-considered way. We must have hearings and patient study."

"If Representative Johnson asks for hearings we will sit up nights for that purpose."

Members of congress do not consider that there is the slightest chance of approval for the Capper-Johnson bill this year.

Washington, D. C., April 5.—(Special.)—Supporters of legislation providing for the conscription of man power and presidential control of labor, industry, and wealth in war time were sharply criticized by house leaders today when an attempt was made to force action on the Capper-Johnson conscription bill this year.

As the session is so far advanced that action on the Capper bill would be virtually impossible at this session, Rep. Johnson (Rep., S. D.), a world war veteran, presented a petition asking that his bill be discharged from the military affairs committee. The move was made under parliamentary privileges.

STORM KILLS 7, MANY INJURED; 1,000 HOMELESS

Kansas City, Mo., April 5.—(P)—Loss of life and property damage mounted today as the southwest checked the effect of yesterday's series of wind, rain, and hail storms and small tornadoes. Seven persons are dead, several are missing, and many seriously injured.

Descending temperatures and threat of more rain and wind handicapped relief workers today, adding to the suffering of many of the homeless. Several streams are approaching the flood stage.

Greatest loss of life was at Shawnee, Okla., caught without warning in the path of a cloudburst that threw a small creek into a raging torrent, driving more than 1,000 residents from their homes. Nearly seven inches of rain, accompanied by damaging hail, fell in two hours. Property damage was placed at $1,000,000.

Four persons, three men and a woman, perished, and two others are believed to have been drowned.

Three lives were claimed by windstorms in Kansas and Arkansas, which in some sections reached a velocity of eighty miles an hour.

Shortly after teachers had marched forty-five pupils into a storm cave near a schoolhouse at Duncan, Okla., a tornado demolished the building. Twenty homes were damaged or destroyed, but storm caves prevented any loss of life.

Three twisters, only one of which struck Duncan, passed on into Washington county, Arkansas, where a wide area was laid waste. Many persons were injured.

One Dead in Iowa

Des Moines, Ia., April 5.—(U.P.)—One man was dead and many small buildings in farming districts were in ruins today after severe wind, hail, and rain storms which swept Iowa. Clyde Conley, 36, farmer, was killed by lightning near Guthrie Center.

NORTH WESTERN RAILROAD TO USE TRUCKS IN CITY

Transfer of less than carload freight shipments from the 16th street terminal of the Chicago and North Western railroad to the Grand avenue transfer of that company, is to be facilitated soon through the use of several five-ton trucks hauling ten-ton trailers, it was announced yesterday by Fred W. Sargent, president of the North Western.

In the announcement Mr. Sargent pointed out that more trains are made up at the Grand avenue transfer, and that the fast motor transfer will give shippers using the 16th street terminal the advantage of the through cars made up at the Grand avenue transfer. Also, Mr. Sargent stated, by the consolidation the greater quantity handled will enable the operation of more through cars, thereby speeding up delivery.

The fleet of trucks will be owned and operated by the Arthur Dixon Transfer company.

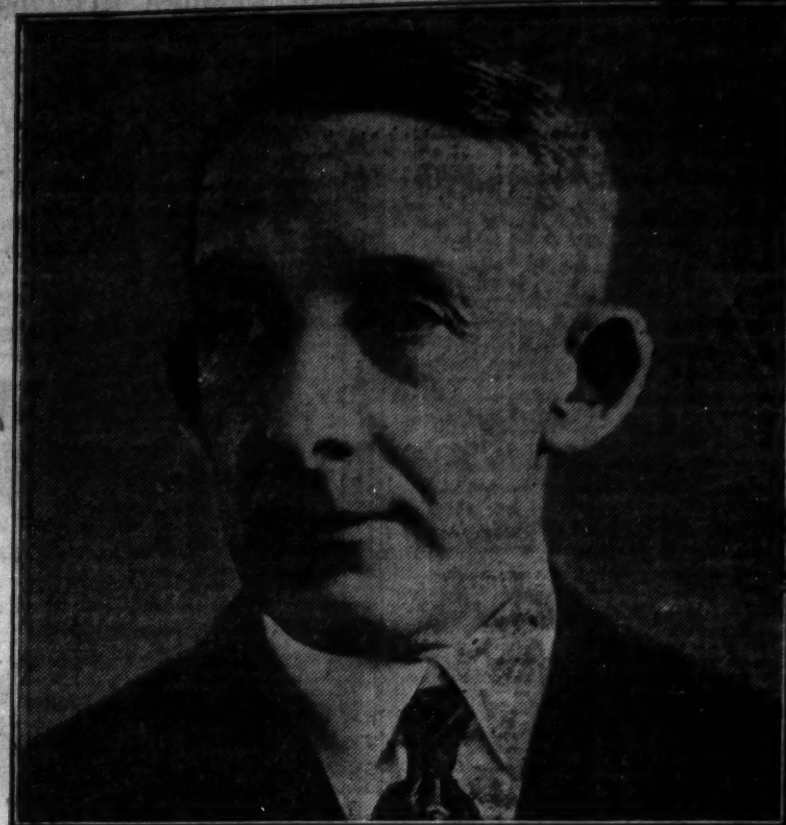

DYNAMITE EATEN BY AURORA GOAT; TOWN IS ALARMED

For more than three weeks Aurora residents were worried by a supposed wildcat which roamed at night. The fears were allayed Tuesday when the prowler was finally pounded up and shot by the police.

Now there is occasion for greater alarm. At the edge of the business district in a barn at 114 South River street, there is tied a goat that has eaten two sticks of dynamite and nobody will go near it. Disturbed, it may be a bomb that will rock the city. It holds more perils than pineapple throwers of Chicago, or ammunition carriers in the front lines that went over the top in 1918.

The goat is the property of Harry Gulick. He had bought the dynamite to blow out some stumps on a farm. Yesterday morning he missed the explosive. As he looked he saw Billy Whiskers eating the last of the second stick. Then he went sounding the alarm as he traveled. He has not returned.

SENATE TO HEAR AUTO INTERESTS ON TAX REPEAL

Will Be Begun by Committee on Monday.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., April 5.—(Special.)—Automobile interests are to have an opportunity to press their case for the repeal of the automobile tax before the senate finance committee today. Arrangements for a hearing of the automobile men and a few other groups, commencing next Monday, were made today by the finance committee, which had expected to consider the tax bill only in executive session, without allowing any one except treasury officials to be heard.

Strong sentiment for the repeal of the tax is expected to develop in the finance committee. The Democrats will be solidly for such action, and two or three Republicans also may join them.

Hills Mellon Program.
If favorable action is taken along this line it will mean that part of the program of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, possibly that for a scaling down of intermediate surtaxes, will have to be sacrificed.

Repeal of the automobile tax as provided in the house bill would mean a loss in revenue of $66,000,000. The same ways and means committee cut the three per cent tax in two, but the house repealed it entirely. The senate committee may compromise by providing a 1 1/2 per cent rate as in the house committee bill.

Demand 200 Million More.
The Democrats have announced that they will insist on a total tax cut of 200 million dollars, which brought the amount from Acting Secretary Mellon of the treasury today that that would mean a 100 million treasury deficit next year.

Senator Smith (Rep., Utah), chairman of the finance committee, said that no consideration would be given to the graduated tax on earnings of small corporations or to the increase in exceptions for small corporations, each of which are contained in the house bill, until it becomes evident what the attitude will be on the repeal or reduction of miscellaneous taxes.

The committee considered a number of administrative provisions of the bill and struck out the section of the house measure relating to cooperative corporations.

TEACHERS SEEK MANDATE TO GET THEIR JOBS BACK
A mandate to return them to immediate service in the public schools was asked yesterday in the Appellate court by ten principals and 21 teachers who were retired under the emeritus rule of the board of education. The teachers have been awaiting reinstatement since the Appellate court declared the emeritus rule void on Feb. 4.

William J. Corby and Allan J. Carter, attorneys for the teachers, declared that the board of education had not filed an appeal in the Supreme court within the time limit for the April term and that the continued delay is working a hardship on the retired teachers. Attorneys for the school board opposed the motion, contending that according to the statutes they had until twenty days before the June term of the Supreme court to file an appeal.

Answered by the board attorneys that the appeal would be filed within the next week, Justice Barnes continued the motion for an immediate mandate until April 12. The motion was heard by Justices Barnes, Scanlan and Gridley.

The emeritus rule, passed two years ago, retired 74 teachers and principals at the age of 70. The Appellate court held that the board was without authority in passing the rule.

George Getz Jr. Resting After Delayed Operation
Following an operation for appendicitis, George Getz Jr., son of the millionaire Chicago coal man, was reported to be in a satisfactory condition yesterday at the Washington hospital. Young Getz first became ill while in Africa with his father some months ago. An operation was deferred until his return to Chicago.

CONSTITUTION PREYS ON HEALTH
You can overcome it with ALL-BRAN.

If you are troubled with constipation, read Mrs. Hogan's letter below. It came to us unsolicited—a message of relief to every sufferer:

February 12, 1923.
"I want to tell you how much good your ALL-BRAN has done me. I surely can't tell you how much I have tried every kind of medicine and never in my whole life have been relieved until one of my neighbors told me to try Bran. So I bought a box and read about your ALL-BRAN. I was sure I would see what it would do—and it surely did help me. I would never be without it in the house again."

MRS. JOSEPH HOGAN,

Constipation is almost universal. The cause of more than forty diseases, dizziness, aching backs, griping, had complexion, are only a few of its symptoms.

Guard against it. Start tomorrow eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Use it in cooking. Sold by all grocers. Serve everywhere. Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

DEMANDS WAR COMPENSATION FOR AGRICULTURE

Blaine Sees Farm Loss as U. S. Debt.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., April 5.—(Special.)—Payment of "adjusted compensation" to agriculture as a war casualty was advocated by Senator Blaine (Rep., Wis.) in the senate today.

The equalization fee of the pending McNary-Haugen bill met with criticism at the hands of Senator Blaine, who said that while he would support the measure as a temporary means of relief, he did not regard it as fully meeting the requirements of the situation.

The Brookhart amendment, proposing the appropriation of 600 million dollars to meet losses of an agricultural export corporation, was approved by the Wisconsin senator, who said this scheme seemed to provide for actual restitution to agriculture.

One Debt to Farm, He Says.

"I regard agriculture as a war casualty," Senator Blaine said. "I think we should take care of agriculture as such. Agriculture lost its arms and its legs upon which it stood, as a result of the war. As a casualty of war therefore it seems to me the duty of the government to make restitution."

"Agriculture is entitled to adjusted compensation for the sacrifices it made in behalf of the government."

Will Ask Vote This Week.

Senator McNary (Rep., Ore.), who is in charge of the pending bill, served notice in the senate that he would attempt to obtain a vote tomorrow or Saturday.

In the house Representative Haugen (Rep., Ia.), chairman of the house committee on agriculture, filed a report from the committee approving the Haugen bill, companion measure to the senate McNary bill.

DENIES SHE IS NOT ENGAGED TO WED G. A. RAMSAY JR.

Miss Elizabeth Shriver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Shriver of 1141 Judson avenue, Evanston, issued a denial last night to certain reports about her matrimonial affairs. It wasn't the usual denial.

"I deny that I am not engaged to Gordon A. Ramsay Jr.," she announced.

Mr. Ramsay, who is the son of Gordon A. Ramsay of Glenview, attorney and former public administrator of Cook county, already has the marriage license. Being a forehanded young man, he purchased it without letting his fiancée or her parents know about it. And therein was the trouble.

"I never told any one we were not engaged," said the prospective bride. "My mother was asked about the license and of course said she hadn't heard of it. She hadn't. Somehow from the start, there was a report that I had eloped with Ramsay. I certainly have not. The formal an-

YANK WHO KILLED SELF BURIED WITH MILITARY HONORS

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

PARIS, April 5.—Belieu Wood echoed once more to American guns today.

The peaceful quiet of the French country side reconquered by the doughboys ten years ago, was broken by three volleys of shots from American rifles, then taps. It was the last tribute to Ernest Stricker of Clayton, Wis., a second division veteran who shot himself Sunday because he wanted to rejoin his buddies lying in the American cemetery.

His hope was not granted, as the army authorities refused to permit his burial in the cemetery. The Paris post of the American Legion accorded the remains a full military funeral. He was buried in the town grave yard nearby.

"to Bed."

MILAN, Italy, April 5.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini returned to his first love—newspaper work—in celebration of his return to the Lombard capital.

He descended on the offices of Popolo d'Italia, the paper he founded in 1914 to urge Italy's entrance into the war on the side of the allies, to pay a surprise visit to his brother, Arnaldo, editor of the paper.

The premier soon left the editorial offices, traversed the city room, and burst into the composing room, where the linotype operators rose from their chairs and gave him a rousing Fascist yell.

Old Towel Still There.

The premier immediately sought out old printers who handled his sprawling longhand in the days when he was a struggling journalist.

Mussolini fested about type "lice" and that international newspaper institution, the composing room roller towel.

"It's just as black as ever," he is said to have remarked: "the color of a good Fascist shirt. I'll bet Arnaldo hasn't had the towel changed since I left here in 1922."

Puts Paper to Bed.

The premier watched the paper being made up in the forms and occasionally offered suggestions as to where the stories should be placed. He followed the forms to the stereotyping department and thence to the press room.

Turning to Dino Grandi, undersecretary of state for foreign affairs, who accompanied him, he said:

"Dino, you see the paper to bed. That's where I'm going myself."

And he did.

BOY, 5, IS KILLED AS AUTO RUNS HIM DOWN IN STREET

James Nix, 5 years old, 830 Blue Island avenue, was fatally injured yesterday at Blue Island avenue and Gilpin street by an automobile driven by Thomas Carozzo, 1219 West Jackson boulevard, business agent of the street cleaners' union. The motorist, a brother of Michael Carozzo, former associate of Timothy (Big Tim) Murphy, carried the boy to a nearby hospital where he died. Although he blamed the wet pavements for the accident, Carozzo was held for the inquest today.

Death of the boy raised Cook county's 1928 motor toll to 237.

William Floodstrand, 4614 North Meade avenue, was charged with manslaughter yesterday by police investigating the death Wednesday night of Ralph Tackett, 23, of Norwood Park. The two were riding in an automobile with Ward Gaston and Michael Bauer. The three, who took Tackett to the Swedish Covenant hospital, said Tackett had leaned out of the car to see whether there was a flat tire and was struck on the head by a passing machine.

MRS. KNAPP INDICTED ON SIX CHARGES BY SPECIAL GRAND JURY

Albany, N. Y., April 5.—[Special.]—Six indictments were returned this evening against Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp, former secretary of state, by the special grand jury convened today to sift charges growing out of her administration of the $1,500,000 fund appropriated by the legislature to defray the cost of the 1925 state census.

Four of the indictments, it was learned tonight, were for felonies and two for misdemeanors. The charges involved are grand larceny, false audit, and aiding and abetting false certification and false acknowledgments of oaths.

It is understood that even more serious phases of the charges against Mrs. Knapp will come up when the session is resumed on Tuesday.

BOY GASED IN BATH TUB.

Galesburg, Ill., April 5.—[Special.]—Pumms from a gas heater asphyxiated Richard P. while he was taking a bath in his home here tonight. His mother found his body in the tub.

RUTH McCORMICK HERE TO FINISH STATE CAMPAIGN

Ruth Hanna McCormick, who, in her campaign for the Republican nomination of congresswoman at large, has gone into practically every county in the state, making as many as nine speeches in one day, returned from her county stumping to Chicago yesterday to give the first of the noon-day talks which she will continue today, tomorrow, and Monday at her headquarters in the Palmer house.

Yesterday her remarks were directed largely to the outlaws of war, which she staunchly supports, not as a pacifist but as a fighter and as a woman who has seen and hates war.

The American people, she declared, will stand back of a program of outlawing war, just as they stand back of national defense. As the most powerful and wealthiest nation, she said, the finding of the solution to the world peace problem lies with us.

On today's schedule there will be talks by Mrs. McCormick at her headquarters at 1215, 215, and 515.

An Open Letter

Mr. Frank J. Loesch,
Otis Building, Chicago.

My Dear Mr. Loesch:

You are president of the Chicago Crime Commission, attorney for the Daily News in certain of its important litigation, and attorney for the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, are you not?

As president of the Chicago Crime Commission, do you not know that in every annual report that the Commission has issued during the seven years I have been State's Attorney, they have praised and commended my administration?

Do you not know that in their annual report dated January 12, 1928, the Commission said:

"Chicago has been represented as the most crime-ridden city in America. There is no supporting data to sustain this malicious, envious characterization. * * * It is a fact that there is an actual decrease in crime generally?"

Do you not know that your Commission also said:

"The substantial reduction in the volume of crimes and violence is in no small measure due to the effective activity of State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe. * * * State's Attorney Crowe has at all times actively and effectively co-operated in the general movement to reduce crime?"

During the last seven years your Chicago Crime Commission has collected from people who believed in it approximately one million dollars. Today you spend some of that money in a political advertisement directed against me in which you say I am unworthy of my office.

Are the reports of your Chicago Crime Commission for the last seven years honest and truthful and is your statement false; or are the reports of your Chicago Crime Commission for the past seven years all false and your statement true? Is the Chicago Crime Commission a reputable, reliable organization, or a fake, bunk concern?

You were State's Attorney of Cook County in 1908, by appointment of a Deneen judge. You indicted hundreds of men. You convicted no one. You received a large sum of money in payment of your "highly efficient" services. Your indictment percentage was 1000 plus; your conviction percentage was nil.

Has your wealthy client, the Daily News, compelled you to stultify yourself in this matter? Or is the fact that your other wealthy client, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, is engaged in interstate commerce and that United States District Attorney, Johnson, has charge of the prosecution of violations of the Interstate Commerce Law, responsible for your repudiation of the reports of seven years of your Chicago Crime Commission?

ROBERT E. CROWE,
State's Attorney of Cook County.

P. S. Mr. Loesch, aren't you ashamed of yourself?

REAL ESTATERS HUNT PROFIT AT BOULDER DAM

Boom Already Going in Wide Zone.

The Tribune herewith presents the third of a series of articles dealing with the great Boulder dam project.

BY HARPER LEECH.

In the 255,000 square miles drained by the Colorado river there are probably 8,015,000 irrigable acres. In the region affected by the Boulder dam project there are 1,300,000 acres possibly irrigable in California, 15,000 in Nevada, and 800,000 in Mexico. Arizona has 1,000,000 acres irrigable from the Colorado and its tributaries, but only a small part of this acreage is in the area which Boulder dam would help.

Arizona's preference for some other site for the proposed dam on the lower Colorado derives from this situation. The interest of New Mexico, Utah, Wyoming, and Colorado in the controversy is caused by the fact that the amount of river water they can take depends upon how much vested water rights are created on the lower river by the Boulder dam construction. Mexico has a similar concern in the creation of vested water rights above the international boundary line.

Magical Effect on Prices.

In addition to these hundreds of thousands of irrigable acres in the Boulder dam area, worth as desert land from $1 to $5 per acre, and certain to jump to $100 or $150 an acre if the dam goes up, there are hundreds of thousands of other desert acres which will rise in value through the magic of the name "Boulder dam," once it is authorized and Uncle Sam's purse is back of it.

Owners of all these lands are, of course, keenly interested in the promotion of Boulder dam, and charges of sinister motives have been made against nearly every prominent man who owns any acreage in that part of the southwest or in adjacent Mexico, at some stage of the controversy.

Prominent men who own lands nearer Los Angeles, and not irrigable by water from the reservoir impounded by Boulder dam, have a chance to profit if, through the use of Colorado river water by the city of Los Angeles, it should become possible to divert for irrigation some of the water now taken by that city's aqueduct to Owens valley, the present principal source of supply.

Made Important Factor.

The prospect of real estate enhancement as well as regional patriotism has arrayed behind the Boulder dam project an army of politicians, real estate magnates, movie nabobs, newspaper publishers, and bankers of unusual influence and power. Some of the old Southern Pacific railroad land grants lie in the general region of Boulder dam.

Although the known land interests of many prominent figures, who have been mentioned in the Boulder dam controversy appear to have been acquired a long time before the project became a live issue, and the interests of others are rather remote from the immediate area of possible benefits by irrigation, the real estate angle of the question is really one of the most important questions raised by this proposal to invest one hundred twenty-five million dollars taken from the taxpayers throughout the United States.

In view of the oil scandals, a careful investigation of all the possible real estate profits from the dam would seem to be a reasonable preliminary to legislation in this day when the principle of special assessment of property benefited by public improvements has become a fixed American policy.

Already Capitalizing It.

That there is nothing academic nor futuristic about the real estate aspect of the Boulder dam project is shown by the fact that some thirty-five individuals and real estate concerns are now selling lands out of Los Angeles and employing the catchword "Boulder dam" in their sales talk. Most of the land now being sold is utterly worthless; that is, it is not within the scope of irrigation projects outlined in the Swing-Johnson bill. But worthless desert lands which lie far beyond the possibility of any benefits from Boulder dam, immediate or remote, are being marketed under the spell of "Boulder dam" or "Colorado river development project."

Muscle Shoals project a source of loss to many unwary investors.

The Los Angeles realty board recently began a weeding out of the fakers and put eight or ten of them out of business. Some have quit voluntarily, for a while at least, but they had made their pile.

Some of the land sellers really have irrigable acres to sell, but these are a small proportion of the promoters now active. Those who have property of real potential value keep their names and titles to themselves and hold the property on the quiet.

One of the Boulder dam "soomers," as they would have called him in Oklahoma, was recently arrested for giving bad checks after selling land to sailors on United States navy ships.

Another enterprising salesman has recently bought some absolutely desert land from the Southern Pacific, which the road has had to hold for generations, because it was of no value.

Some Side Ventures.

Other promoters have been selling land near towns like Las Vegas, Nev., which may become flourishing little places if the Boulder dam is built, but the land stands no chance of any direct irrigation benefits.

Most of the operators are located in Los Angeles or its suburban towns, but one or two have begun operations in Chicago, and perhaps in New York. There are four or five reputable propositions being marketed under Boulder dam "trade mark"—that is, the lands are actually embraced in the improvement projects set forth in the Swing-Johnson bill, which provides for the whole nation to pay the bill.

"REG PARDOON."

In the Boulder dam article printed yesterday the clause reading "and a dam lower down at Topock, below the mouth of the Gila river," should have read "and a dam lower down at Topock or levee work below the mouth of the Gila river." The Mohave or Topock site is above the mouth of the Gila, and flood control of the Gila is now being taken care of by dams on that river.

WORKER CRUSHED TO DEATH.

Calaburg, Ill., April 5.—(AP)—Jake Brack, 25, was fatally injured today when a 1,000 pound weight fell on him at the Coulter-Die company, where he was employed as a pressman.

HIS BIG NEED IS PANTS, SO COURT FANS BUY PAIR

Joseph Freccina, 48 years old, 5842 Buffalo avenue, a cripple, when being arraigned before Judge Trude in the South Chicago court on a charge of begging, told the judge that he needed Easter clothes and that was what prompted him to beg.

"What do you need so much that you would beg money to buy it?" the judge asked him.

"I need a pair of pants badly, your honor," the cripple said. After the judge looked him over he agreed that if a pair of trousers was not produced soon, Freccina would be arrested on a more serious charge. As an insurance against that, a collection of $12 was taken up in the courtroom and Joe was told to hurry to the nearest clothing store, and warned to be careful and not sneeze on the way.

REPORT SHERIDAN TRUST ACQUIRES BROADWAY SITE

BY AL CHASE.

Uptown Chicago was interested in reports late yesterday that the Sheridan Trust & Savings bank has entered into a contract with the Illinois Merchants Trust company, trustee for the estate of Malvina S. Armour, for the purchase of the fee at the southeast corner of Broadway and Lawrence. The north side bank now has an eight story home on the property which it holds under ninety-nine year lease from the estate of Mrs. Armour, who was the widow of P. D. Armour. The site fronts 139 feet on Broadway, 147 feet on Lawrence and 105 feet on Clifton avenue and constitutes one of the most valuable parcels in the city outside the loop.

Merger Lease and Fee.

The statement was made that the Foreman Trust and Savings bank is a party to the contract on behalf of the north side institution, but this could not be confirmed either from the Foreman bank or from Edwin L. Read, president of the Sheridan Trust. However, reports have it that the Sheridan Trust has been considering for some time the merging of the 99 year leasehold with the fee and is at last accomplishing its purpose.

What price is being paid for land could not be learned but the property has been quoted at $2,250 a front foot in this vicinity. As was told in this department on March 25, the Sheridan Trust is adding four stories to its present home which was erected in 1925, making it a twelve story structure and involving an expenditure of about $500,000.

The law firm of Kirkland, Patterson & Fleming is handling the legal details for the purchasers in the transaction, while Butler, Lamb, Foster & Pope are representing the Illinois Merchants Trust company.

New Harvey Building.

It is announced that work is to start in about two weeks on a five story apartment hotel at the southwest corner of 154th and Park avenue, Harvey, for the Georgian Hotel corporation. The structure is to occupy an irregular sized lot and when completed it is stated it will represent an investment of $380,000. There will be five stories on the main floor and 100 guest rooms in the upper stories. In addition there will be a recreation room and a cafeteria. Leon F. Urbahn is the architect.

Germany to Open New U. S. Phone Service; Lower Rates

BERLIN, April 5.—Reduced rates for wireless telephoning from Germany to America were announced today, beginning in July. The Germans are completing a short wave station at Nauen, with a similar receiving station near Beelitz. The new German stations will need less power, and the traffic will carry further.

For STATE'S ATTORNEY

► The Citizens of Chicago Are Interested in Facts—Mud-Slinging and Abuse Are NOT Facts ◄

"The FACT remains that there is an actual decrease in crime generally."

—Chicago Crime Commission Annual Report, January 12, 1928

Chief Justices of the Criminal Court—Trial Judges of the Criminal Court who know the FACTS and commend State's Attorney Crowe, testify:

"Robert E. Crowe's severest critic has never been able to lay his finger on a single event, deed or transaction which is not worthy of the high position he holds."

JUDGE MARCUS KAVANAGH.

"I commend Robert E. Crowe for his efficient, aggressive and impartial administration of the duties of State's Attorney."

JUDGE CHARLES M. FOELL.

"Robert E. Crowe has filled the office of State's Attorney with great excellence and is entitled to the commendation of the people."

JUDGE THOMAS TAYLOR.

"Robert E. Crowe's fine administration of the office of State's Attorney of Cook County is second to none in the history of the county."

JUDGE VICTOR P. ARNOLD.

"Robert E. Crowe has prosecuted, not persecuted, as State's Attorney. The people know and should appreciate his record."

JUDGE OSCAR HEBEL.

"Robert E. Crowe by his unflinching courage, wisdom and ability has handled the crime situation in a manner that reflects his full capacity for that position."

JUDGE WALTER P. STEFFEN.

ROBERT E. CROWE

"Robert E. Crowe's prosecutions are always sincere, fearless and without favor."

JUDGE GEORGE FRED RUSH.

"I know that State's Attorney Crowe has given and will continue to give to his office not only his ripe experience but also fine legal ability, mental alertness and physical vigor."

JUDGE HUGO PAM.

"It is my duty as a citizen to express my high regard for Robert E. Crowe, both personally and as a public official. By all means he should be re-elected."

JUDGE GEORGE KERSTEN.

"I found Robert E. Crowe able, honest and courageous in the discharge of his duties as State's Attorney."

JUDGE KICKHAM SCANLAN.

"State's Attorney Crowe has exercised his official powers most judiciously and has met the responsibilities with unusual courage and ability."

JUDGE WILLIAM V. BROTHERS.

"Robert E. Crowe's record as Judge and State's Attorney proves his eminent fitness to serve the people as State's Attorney."

JUDGE MICHAEL FEINBERG.

Vice Reduced Under Crowe

Let the Committee of Fifteen (of which Joseph R. Noel of the Noel State Bank is president, and Clifford W. Barnes, David R. Forgan, James A. Patten and Julius Rosenwald and others are directors), whose business it is to make a study of vice conditions, testify:

"Commercialized vice in the city of Chicago has been greatly minimized. The segregated districts have been done away with entirely. Houses of prostitution are now so scattered, so entirely unprotected, that they afford no opportunity for the commercialization of vice. The dealer in white slaves has been practically put out of business. The Committee is especially indebted to Robert E. Crowe, State's Attorney, for his active co-operation."

Read Report of Chicago Crime Commission

The Chicago Crime Commission was organized by the Association of Commerce. Frank J. Loesch, General Counsel for the Pennsylvania Railroad, is its president. Its membership comprises the leading business men of Chicago. The Commission has a man in every courtroom in the Criminal Court and has a man in every department of the State's Attorney's office.

The Commission's Annual Report, dated January 12, 1928, says in part: "Chicago has been represented as the most crime-ridden city in America. There is no supporting data to sustain this malicious, envious characterization. * * * It is a fact that there is an actual decrease in crime generally."

They have also reported: "The substantial reduction in the volume of crimes and violence is in no small measure due to the effective activity of State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe."

Powerful Protector of Chicago Children

No man in Chicago is better qualified than William L. Bodine, Superintendent of the Bureau of Compulsory Education, Board of Education, City of Chicago, to gauge the vigor and value of Robert E. Crowe's services in shielding the children of Chicago from morons and other vicious foes.

This is what he says: "You have performed a great service for the conservation of childhood and the protection of girls of school age. The result clearly indicates that Robert E. Crowe, as a citizen, father, and State's Attorney, may be depended upon to protect little children from the morons of this community."

UNDISPUTED FACTS

Muddying the water and drawing red-herrings across the trail fools nobody. The voters demand FACTS. They have a right to them. The State's Attorney is elected to prosecute criminals. He cannot be blamed for those who go unwhipped of justice because juries refuse to convict. What, however, are the facts with reference to convictions obtained during the more than seven years' incumbency of ROBERT E. CROWE?

WHEN ROBERT E. CROWE WAS ELECTED STATE'S ATTORNEY, 22 OUT OF EVERY 100 PERSONS INDICTED WERE CONVICTED. THE RECORDS SHOW THAT STATE'S ATTORNEY CROWE'S OFFICE IS CONVICTING 66 OUT OF EVERY 100 PERSONS INDICTED. THESE ARE OFFICIAL FACTS AND CANNOT BE SUCCESSFULLY CHALLENGED. DO THESE FIGURES BEAR OUT THE MALICIOUS AND LIBELOUS STATEMENT THAT CHICAGO IS "THE CRIME CENTER OF THE WORLD"?

Do you know there are 13 large cities in the United States having a larger murder rate per capita than the city of Chicago?

Do you know that Robert E. Crowe is the first State's Attorney in 15 years to appear personally in court to prosecute criminal cases?

TYROL CHILDREN USED BY ITALY TO SPY ON PARENTS

German Textbooks Seized and Burned by Police.

(This is the third of a series of articles describing the conditions of the Germans in South Tyrol.)

BY LARRY RUE.

VIENNA, April 5.—Instead of possessing the rights of ordinary Italians, which is limited under the Fascist dictatorship, the Germans of South Tyrol are undergoing not only a most severe and cruel oppression in regard to the recognized elemental rights of mankind but virtually are subjected to a system of taxation and restrictions in economic activities which amounts to confiscation.

The property rights of the Germans of South Tyrol have become nominal only. Taxes are levied on a considerably higher scale than prevail in other parts of Italy.

German Language Abolished.

Culturally, the South Tyroleans have been robbed of their most precious treasure. German has been the language of this territory for 1,500 years, as written records attest. Registry of citizens and land grants covering this territory 800 years back are in German. One can travel throughout this territory and outside of the valley brought in Italians, one will discover that no one understands Italian. Yet today the German language is a crime there.

A woman of one of the best families of this territory who was discovered to have had five pupils, although she taught them at different times and only one day a week, was arrested by carabinieri with drawn bayonets, handcuffed and thrown into prison. School children have been ordered in the public schools to bring all their German books, which are burned. At Schleiers school children were searched on the street and prayer books, catechisms, and Bible histories were taken from them and burned.

Children Urged to Spy.

It is forbidden for the clergy to give even religious instructions in German; but it is still being done by certain priests, although fifteen already have been imprisoned and sent out of the country. Priests still are permitted to give a sermon in German, but all the written records of church, lessons and sermons must be Italian. It was the complaint of numerous Germans with whom I spoke that their children were brought up to worship in Italian and the Italian school as attractive for the children as possible, even showing cinema. The children regarded the school as a joke. They are encouraged to spy on their parents. Children are being drilled as to what their parents say or do, especially if they have made any derogatory remarks in regard to Italians or Italy.

The school books have been changed. Instead of being told of the heroic deeds of Andrea Hofer, Speckbacher and other Tyrolean heroes, the children are now taught to worship as heroes their former enemies. Italian school readers contain considerable abuse of the Germans.

Elmer Is Both Sad and Glad, Due to Radio

Hears Spelling Bee and Fine Music.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

It is a marvelous quality of human nature that permits one to be at the same instant both happy and sad, the radio producing that emotional effect as it did last evening.

How reminiscent of school days, yours and mine, the junior high spelling bee between Kelyna Park and Farragut schools at W-G-N's studio, 730 to 8. There were brave boys' voices, timid girls' voices and touching of excitement over the tricky arrangement of letters in many words—glycerin—for one.

I was pleased that the resumption of weekly broadcasts from one of Chicago's most popular of popular theaters, through W-G-N, 830 to 9, instead of being the trivial entertainment that fritters away as rapidly as it comes, was of a substantial nature.

Some who heard KYW's Easter time program, from New York, 8 to 9, may have liked the orchestra numbers best, or possibly Astrid Fjeld's clear soprano voice, or possibly Frederic Eber's baritone voice.

Shortly after 8:30, a pleasant surprise in that WCFM was found flooding the air with Salter's commanding cantata, "The Crucifixion." It was being sung by the Temple Baptist church choir. The choir and soloists well may be proud of their efforts.

Now I do not know how to do justice to the broadcast of Verdi's "Mazurka Requiem," by an orchestra, four ideal soloists, and a chorus of twelve voices from New York, through KYW, 9:40 to 10:20.

I would not be surprised to hear that many a listener, in his loneliness, walked the floor as I did for succor from emotional stress, for needed mental and physical distraction. Somehow, in this gentle "Requiem" for a compatriot genius, the world has a monument in music, one worth living to hear, one worth dying to inspire.

WITNESS DEFIES SENATE UNTIL IT SEATS VARE

Philadelphia, Pa., April 5.—(AP)—After five hours of argument in United States District court today, Sheriff Thomas W. Cunningham again was released in $1,000 bail on charges of contempt of the United States senate pending decision of Judge Oliver B. Dickinson. Decision, it was intimated, may be made the week of April 12.

Cunningham was arrested last week in accordance with a senate resolution, for refusal to tell the senate special committee investigating campaign funds the source of $50,000 he contributed to the campaign fund of Senator-elect William S. Vare in the 1926 primary.

Argument today was on application of Cunningham's lawyer for a writ of habeas corpus to free him from the custody of John J. McGrain, deputy sergeant at arms of the senate.

Attorneys for Cunningham informed the court their client would not go before the senate until Vare had been seated, and argued that the senate could not discuss Vare's case because it had barred him from membership.

BRITISH FIRMS ORDER 2 FAST LINERS FOR 1931

PARIS, April 5.—British shipping interests expect to have two 1,000 foot, twenty-eight knot liners operating in trans-Atlantic service by the summer of 1931.

Within two months the keel of the first of these, which the White Star Lines have ordered at a cost of $25,000,000 will be laid down at the Harland Wolfe ship yard, Belfast. Meanwhile the Cunard line is negotiating with the directors of the Browns ship yard, Clydebank, builders of the Lusitania, for the construction of a ship approximately the same size as the new White Star liner.

The latter ship, which will be just 100 feet long, will have a beam of 110 feet and a gross tonnage of 55,000. Her maximum speed of 28 knots should enable her to maintain a cruising speed of 26 knots in good weather. Her motor power will be turbo-electric, similar to the Panama-Pacific liner California, with an estimated horsepower of 154,000.

BARTON, ONCE HEAD OF RAILWAY ARBITERS, IS DEAD

Tampa, Fla., April 5.—(AP)—Death today ended the career of Judge R. M. Barton, widely known jurist and former chairman of the railroad labor board, whose retirement from that post in 1923 was accompanied by a controversy in Washington over the appointment of his successor.

Judge Barton was appointed a member of the railroad board by President Wilson. He later was made chairman. The dispute was precipitated when former Gov. R. P. Morrow of Kentucky was named to succeed him. He announced then that he had not resigned and would not discuss reports of an agreement with President Harding under which he was to serve a certain length of time and then relinquish the post to Mr. Morrow.

It was explained later that Judge Barton was given a recess appointment after Mr. Morrow had been of the appointment and it had been postponed until the latter had completed his gubernatorial term.

Judge Barton died at a local hospital, where he underwent an operation three weeks ago after an illness of several months. He was 77 years of age.

And Now — PURE OIL Products in Chicago!

THE PURE OIL BUILDING, CHICAGO
E. Wacker Drive and N. Wabash Avenue

Here are located the General Offices of The Pure Oil Company—one of the major producers, refiners, and marketers of petroleum products, yet strictly independent.

THE Garage Owners Oil Company is a Chicago corporation made up entirely of Chicago business men. We are listing the addresses of our dealers and our own drive-in stations through which we are marketing Pure Oil products. Each of these garages and filling stations is under reliable management and is fully equipped to service your car with gasoline, oil, and grease. Which address is most convenient for you?

THE quality gasolines and motor oils refined by The Pure Oil Company are now being sold by the garages and drive-in filling stations which we serve—scores of them, conveniently located in all sections of Chicago!

To many Chicagoans "Pure Oil" may have suggested only the Pure Oil Building—one of the most imposing landmarks on the new Chicago skyline. But, from this building The Pure Oil Company directs the operations of its far-flung properties—oil fields, refineries, pipe lines, ocean terminals and marketing plants. Thus, by controlling every operation from crude to finished products, Pure Oil insures the uniform high quality of its gasolines and oils.

GARAGE OWNERS OIL CO.
3601 S. Western Avenue Phone LAfayette 9200

This blue-and-white sign is the symbol of uniformly good gasoline... quick starting... buoyant power... excellent mileage!

Since you can't tell the quality of gasoline by its appearance, it pays—in these days of cut prices and uncertain quality—to buy an established brand like Purol... time-tried and reliable... expertly made by one of the largest independent refiners—The Pure Oil Company. Purol has never been refined down to meet price competition. Instead, it has always been built up to high specifications—to give, at no premium in price, genuine motoring satisfaction.

DETONOX is an up-to-the-minute gasoline, specially refined to give supreme performance in any type motor. It is non-detonating (non-knocking) even in high compression motors, but it is not a "doped" fuel. It is pure gasoline... colored RED for your protection against substitution.

And the distinguishing feature about DETONOX is that it's more than just an "anti-knock" gasoline. It combines all wanted qualities—touch-and-go starting... bounding pick-up... giant power... better mileage. Daily use for over a year by thousands of motorists has proved DETONOX distinctly "better 7 ways." A trial fill will convince you too, that it's well worth the few pennies more it costs.

Tiolene Motor Oil is "Pure Pennsylvania" and far more—100% Super-Pennsylvania quality. It is the only motor oil refined from Cabin Creek Super-Pennsylvania crude oil—the highest quality crude found on this continent. That is why Tiolene has no superior.

The remarkable heat-resistance which Tiolene inherits from this unique crude oil enables it to retain the proper lubricating body under terrific motor heat—when ordinary oils thin out and break down. Thus, a fill of Tiolene protects your motor longer... gives more miles of safe lubrication... costs you less per mile and per year.

THE GUMPS—THE HOWL OF THE UNDER DOG

Yesterday, Oak Park High school, suburban league champion, dropped a last game to the Vienna, Ga., short team, 40 to 15.

Canton, the Illinois state champion, the other hand, continued its steady course through the upper brackets by outgunning the favorite Tulsa, Okla., 19 to 15, with their stalling, fast breaking offense.

Vienna flashed a polished attack which was too much for the smaller Oak Parkers. The Georgia team took the lead at the start and carried through, growing stronger as the game progressed, leading 15 to 3 at the half and 23 to 13 at the third quarter. The Vienna center invariably got the tipoff from Pyott, and most of the Vienna points were made on quick under the basket breaks from tipoff plays.

Horne, Vienna forward, led the scoring for the winners with eight baskets and one free throw. Bramhall counted his usual five baskets for the Oak Parkers, and scored five times by the free throw. Pyott, local center, who rang up nine baskets in the opening game, was held scoreless from the floor.

As a result of its victory in the third round, Canton goes into the quarter final today, and will meet Dixie High of St. George, Utah, at 4 this afternoon.

Englewood, the city league entry which has been burning up the consolation tournament, defeated Berlin, N. H., 25 to 19, at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday. Englewood will meet Everett, Mass., at 8 this afternoon in the quarter final round, at Bartlett gymnasium.

To Play Your Best Play the Best Clubs

IN golf the margin between winning or losing is often a matter of inches. On every round you can remember shots that almost were good—long drives that ended in the rough, approaches that landed just off the green and rolled into a trap. Many an 8 was almost a 4.

Don't Blame Yourself
When Your Clubs Are At Fault
Clubs collected one at a time are enough out of relation to each other to cause just such things to happen. Until you own a Kroydon Matched Set you are not playing the best golf that's in you.

The Best Matched Set
Kroydon dentproof irons are matched according to the original and best Matched Set Patent. They are related not only in shape, loft, lie and face markings—but they are also matched according to weight, length, whip and torsion of shafts, size of grips and balance. Every club in the set has precisely the same feel. Tested by club makers who play in the 70's. Every set is numbered and recorded.

Sold by Pro and at the best stores. Write to The Kroydon Co., Maplewood, N. J., for "Kroydon's Golf Hints"—it contains practical suggestions for playing every club.

Purple Martin Takes Up His Chicago Home

BY BOB BECKER.

Chicago's favored aerial acrobat, the purple martin, made his appearance in northern Illinois this week and thus added another good mark to his long record of timely appearance. By way of showing their confidence in Chicago's brand of spring weather the first "scouts" of the martin flying army waited only until March had passed before coming to the great lakes region. Several residents of western suburbs reported the presence of these long awaited feathered travelers on the morning of April 1.

Dressed in their blue black nuptial clothes, the martins reach Chicago after a typical Lindbergh flight. They must wing their way from Brazil, their winter quarters. Coming north they find thousands of redecorated "apartments" ready for occupancy in parks, gardens, orchards, and back yards as bird fans stage miniature building booms in order to turn out martin houses which may land a colony of these tenants.

Impressive as the arrival of the martins is because of the lesson it teaches in bird migration, even more interesting is the uncanny skill and ease of these birds on the wing and their jolly, house-party disposition. They prefer living with many families of their kind in a large house to an isolated one room home. We were observing this gregarious house party spirit of the martin shortly before dusk two days ago. It sounded like a reunion of old friends, although it was evident that the business of securing a supper on the wing—that expression of "grabbing a bite on the fly" must have originated with the martins—was interfering seriously with the question of how soon the bold English sparrows should be attacked and thrown off the premises.

Yankees' Slump Fails to Shake Blase Gotham's Faith

one it would require police reserves to handle the crowds trying to attend services for them.

This is because the Babe in his clumsy, rough handed manifestations of kindness has made himself popular where he might have been merely famous, and McGraw has come to be regarded as Mr. New York himself, a bluff, a bully, and a tough man, but good for an overcoat or the rent on a cold day if approached with the proper technique.

Thus far the Yankees have lost a dozen ball games, most of them exhibitions, played against clubs of inferior ranking, but if there is any worry about the matter at all it is the exclusive function of the experts who soon will have to confer with themselves in a serious way and predict the winner of the American league pennant and the order of finishing of the other seven teams.

Boxing Tournay Bewilders.
But the task of the expert is hard. The ball clubs often mislead them and for this reason clubs which play punk baseball are not necessarily regarded as punk. In fact, in the case of the Yankees, the punk baseball which they have been playing is certain to be made the basis of several thoughtful predictions that they will win. It is so bewildering that perhaps it would be better to change the subject.

But the subject of the heavyweight elimination tournament is no less bewildering. After many prize fights, starting with a seeded draw and marked by numerous reinstatements of eliminated gladiators, Mr. Rickard finally decided that Thomas Heeney of New Zealand should have the distinguished honor of being fought by the Mepton of the Cauliflower, Gene Tunney.

Mullen Hopes to Close Title Match Today

Promoter James Mullen expects to close the world's middleweight championship fight between Mickey Walker, the titleholder, and Ace Hudkins of Omaha today. Walker already has agreed to the match and Hudkins in a long distance telephone conversation with Mullen yesterday practically accepted the offer. The fighter said it was up to his brother Clyde to close and sign the articles.

Mullen is confident he will land the bout and has set July 19 as the date. He plans to put on the fight at Soldiers' field.

Articles were sent to Walker Wednesday night and as soon as Hudkins accepts definitely, papers will be sent to him. When articles are returned to Mullen they will be filed with the boxing commission, which will require each fighter and the promoter to post a substantial forfeit as a guarantee the fight will go on as scheduled.

APRIL SHOWERS KEEP CUBS IDLE AT KANSAS CITY

But McCarthy Orders Out
Pitchers for Drill.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Kansas City, Mo., April 5.—As was expected by those who know the spring weaknesses of the town, McCarthy's Cubs were unable to perform against the Blues today because of inclement weather. Rain descended in such large quantities during the night that the playground of the local celebrities was almost completely submerged, and as neither team had been trained for a swimming meet it was decided to delay hostilities.

In view of the two days spent while train riding across the desert country and other country that is only a few raindrops per annum removed from the same classification, McCarthy would have appreciated an opportunity for a ball game, but when he found out he couldn't have it he took the next best thing and ordered a warm-up for all members of the pitching staff.

Pitchers Take Short Drill.
The pitchers were taken to a cinder track adjoining the park and told to throw like everything until ordered to quit. This went on for about twenty minutes, by which time all the important members were pretty well warmed up. Then they took a short sprint and returned to the clubhouse.

Today's postponement jimmied up McCarthy's plans for determining which of his pitchers could be entrusted with a nine-inning job, but he is at least going to stick to his intention of letting young Johnny Welch have one full game here. The kid will have it tomorrow if possible. It will be Root's turn Saturday, after which he will rest until opening day at Cincinnati.

McCarthy Spikes Trade Rumors.
Rumors of a possible trade between the Cubs and some other National league club popped up again today, but McCarthy insisted it was news to him. The story is that the Chicago club will get an outstanding infielder in exchange for a pitcher and infielder. All the owners in the league are convinced that the Cubs already are too strong, so the chances are that nothing will happen.

The club boss was elated this morning over receipt of word that Hal Carlson, who left the team at Los Angeles, would rejoin it Monday at Terre Haute.

Hoppe Noses Out Weston in Chicago Clubs Thrilling 50-49 Cue Match

BY HARLAND ROHM.

Exactly at 12 o'clock in Recital hall last night Willie Hoppe counted the second of two three cushion caroms after Charles Weston twice had missed by a hair the one point which would have given him victory, ending a billiard match parked with as many thrills as a serial movie. It was the 78th inning in which Hoppe won, the longest game of the tournament, but it was a game of thrills, not of dullness. It was long not because of poor playing, but because of superlative defensive play.

The stage had been set by the day's three previous matches. In the first one, Augie Kleckhefer had beaten Earl Lookabaugh by the most brilliant scoring shots and best game of the tournament. Kleckhefer won, 50 to 30, in 35 innings, including one burst of 32 billiards in nine innings. In the second afternoon game, Johnny Layton, after a slow start had spurred with the second high run of the tournament, ten, and turned in a 44 inning game which was sweet billiards. Layton defeated Arthur Thurnblad, 10 to 38.

Then Comes Hoppe Match.
Then came an anti-climax of a dull game in which Allen Hall out-dugged Len Kenney, 50 to 40, in 72 innings, and then Weston and Hoppe came on. The odds were 10 to 1 on Hoppe.

For the first few innings it seemed the odds were right, for Hoppe won the bank and ran four, added three in the next inning and after one blank clicked off three more. But the veteran "cowboy," squinting at the shots from under his green eye shade, was far from licked, and he was yet to give the famed Willie the busiest evening Mr. Hoppe has had in some time.

Weston had made two in the first inning and added three in the fourth and made his first bid with a run of six in the fifth inning. That made the score eleven all, and from then until the finish the score was tied exactly eighteen times. At no time after the fifth inning did either have a lead of more than four points, and most of the time it was Weston, underdog in the betting, who led.

Crowd for Weston.
The crowd which filled the hall to capacity was pulling for Weston and there was a storm of handclapping whenever the veteran "cowboy" pulled up even or went ahead. When he missed, the crowd groaned or uttered explosive objections at the balls.

Not that the crowd was opposed to Hoppe, but seeing the under dog rise up and smite the maharajah of billiards and put him in a position where he talked to the balls, twisted his body in queer acrobatics, and shook his cue at the balls was too rare a bit not to be taken with enjoyment.

Chicago Clubs Kick on Site of Olympic Trials

Sheldon Clark, chairman of the C. A. A. athletic committee, and William G. Uffendell, who holds a similar position at the I. A. C., intend to protest to Dan Ferris, secretary of the National A. A. U., the award of the middle western Olympic trials to Detroit.

The protest is based on the extra expense which each club will incur in sending its athletes to Detroit, and then to either Boston or New York, where the final tests will be held. It is the contention of the heads of the local clubs' athletic committees that Chicago is the best site for the mid western trials.

Each club will send its star performers to the sectional tests, and the qualifiers naturally will be sent east for the finals. Each organization, the I. A. C. particularly, is represented by so many stars that their contribution to the Olympic fund to defray expenses of the American team to Amsterdam, Holland, may be cut in order to send their athletes to Detroit, and then into the east.

HOCKEY TEAMS DEADLOCKED.

Plans Annual Thanksgiving Grid Tilt Here

George Donoghue, superintendent of the south parks, believes Chicago is ready for an annual Thanksgiving day game between football eleven of large universities, and is planning to consult with a number of the leading coaches in the country relative to an annual game at Soldier's field.

The last big game played on Thanksgiving between two leading university teams in Chicago was back in 1904, when Chicago defeated Michigan on what was then Marshall field, 2 to 0. In the winter of 1904 and 1906, the Western conference passed a rule prohibiting Thanksgiving day games and making it imperative the season close on the Saturday preceding Thanksgiving day. That rule is still in effect.

With members of the Big Ten out of consideration, Donoghue has in mind an annual game between Notre Dame and Marquette or Notre Dame and Nebraska. It also is possible a strong eastern eleven could be brought west to meet a member of the Missouri Valley conference.

GIANTS TROUCE FOR 5TH STRAIGHT SENATORS, 4 TO 0.

Charlotte, N. C., April 5.—(AP)—The Washington Senators today found Bill Walker's southpaw arm a puzzle and took their fifth straight beating from the New York Giants, 4 to 0. Walker went the full route, the third Giant pitcher to perform that feat in three days, and gave only two singles. Max Stullen got one of these in the third and Sam Rice the other in the sixth.

The Giants hammered Min Gascorn, Homan and Terry getting home runs and O'Doul, Jackson, and Cohen each hitting triples. Garland Braxton pitched Gaston in the eighth and held the Giants hitless. Score:

$6,000 WAGER SLICES DERBY ODDS ON NASSAK

Biggest Bet of Year in Winter Book.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The shadow of Uncle Sam Hildreth, the master trainer, appeared on the Kentucky Derby trail yesterday. Uncle Sam trains the Rancocas stable horses, owned by Harry F. Sinclair, which were recently barred from Maryland tracks because of Sinclair's notoriety in the Teapot Dome oil scandal.

Either Uncle Sam or some of his friends caused considerable excitement in the Derby future book market yesterday when they wagered $6,000 to win, $2,000 to place, and $2,000 to show on Nassak in the coming Derby of May 15.

Odds Drop to 12 to 1.

The book operated by Emil Herz of New York and Lexington took a big slice of the bet and laid odds of 20 to 1 to win, 3 to 1 to place, and 4 to 1 to show. After the transaction had been completed the odds against Nassak were sliced to 12 to 1.

"This is the biggest bet of the year so far in the winter book play," Robert McCluggage, who is interested in the Harry Future book, said yesterday. McCluggage was in Chicago following a visit at Churchill Downs, where he looked over the numerous Derby candidates working out there.

The largest wager the Harry book had handled previous to the play on Nassak was $3,000 against $14,000 on Reigh Count which was made by a New Yorker.

Out of Money Only Once.

Nassak, a son of John P. Grier-Ethel D., was one of the leading eastern 3 year olds last season. He started 14 times and was out of the money only once, winning seven races. He was beaten a head early in the New York season by the sensational Dice which, until his untimely death at Saratoga in August was generally rated as the best 3 year old of the year. Nassak and Reigh Count, the Derby favorite, did not hook up after the latter colt reached his best form.

According to McCluggage the four heaviest backed horses in the Derby are Nassak, Reigh Count, Victorian and Typhoon. The latter recently engaged in a surprisingly good workout at Bowie, running six furlongs in 1:14 3/4, which is the best move made by any Derby candidate this spring. Several big wagers at 40 and 50 to 1 have been made on him since that workout.

Crystal Pennant on Way.

Crystal Pennant, the Offshoot handicapper, is en route from Tia Juana to the Aurora track. General Manager Clifford B. Trimble was advised yesterday. He is traveling on a special train which includes nine carloads of horses, which is due at Aurora tomorrow morning.

Charley Irwin, the Wyoming cowboy and known on the turf as the selling plater king, is going to invade the Chicago racing circuit this season. Seven of his horses are aboard the special from Tia Juana and 200 pound Charley is coming along to saddle them in their campaign here. It is the first time in many years that Irwin has raced this far east. He won his title of "Selling Plater King" at Tia Juana where for a number of years he wound up among the leading money winning owners despite the fact that he had only a dozen lowly platers in his barn, but he-raced them almost every day.

DELANEY SIGNS FOR 15 ROUND SHARKEY FIGHT

New York, April 5.—(AP)—Jack Delaney, former light heavyweight champion, tonight signed through his manager to fight Jack Sharkey of Boston in a 15 round heavyweight match at Madison Square Garden April 30. Sharkey signed articles last Friday.

The bout is just a "fight," says McMahon, matchmaker at the Garden, and has no connection with the elimination tournament that brought defeats for both Delaney and Sharkey and a heavyweight title shot for Tom Heeney.

Corporal Beats Derby Hopes in Bowie Race

Baltimore, Md., April 5.—[Special.]

Corporal raced to victory in a close finish in the Aspirant purse for 3 year olds this afternoon at Bowie. It was the feature of the card and Jockey Leonard had to drive Corporal at his best stride to gain the decision over Manchou which had taken the lead momentarily half way down the stretch.

Eleven 3 year olds, some of them Kentucky Derby eligibles, went to the post. 1 Hope So, from F. J. Kearns' stable, made the pace but was closely attended by Manchou with False Modesty and Corporal also close up. Turning for home Jockey Marger rallied Manchou and he forced his way to the front to be overtaken a second later by Corporal. Only inches separated the two leaders at the finish with False Modesty not far back in third place.

Corporal paid $9.40 in the $2 mutuel and ran the 3/4 furlong in 1:15 1/4. Among the beaten Derby eligibles was Pollywog from the Harry Payne Whitney stable.

Calm, a 2 year old in the George D. Widener stable, ridden by Jockey D. Moon and making his first start, was the prize long shot of the day when he won the 3 year old feature from the Woodlawn stable's My Sis with E. L. Freeman's Rea third. Calm's mutuel price was $41.10 for $2.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Asks for Chairs.

"Has one of your readers a comfortable parlor set which I could have? My mother, who is 75, and I have just moved into these rooms, which are bright and sunny. It would be ideal for her if she had some easy chairs and I can't afford to buy them."

"Mrs. J. V."

With housecleaning and moving time fast approaching, a lot of you will be discarding and replacing articles of furniture which another family would welcome. If among them there is an easy chair or two for this elderly woman, won't you let me know about it?

A Student's Needs.

"I am a high school student and my parents cannot afford to buy me all the things I need. I will be most grateful to you if you can secure a mechanical drawing set and a brief case for me."

Have you either of the articles requested by this young student?

Lawrence Whiting's Purchase Selfridge Lake Geneva Estate

By THALIA

"Coyote Court," the interesting and historic edifice that was the Lake Geneva residence of the late Mr. and Mrs. John J. Selfridge, is now sold. We thought it was yesterday that Lawrence Whiting had purchased the place. On inquiry, Mrs. Whiting assured us that such is not the case, but that they have purchased the property for the purpose of building a new residence, and that the old one will be sold. The new residence, which is being built on a site of about 10 acres, is to be a masterpiece of architecture, and will be a fitting home for the new owners. The old residence, which was built in 1880, is a fine example of the architecture of that period, and is now being sold by the estate.

Mrs. John C. Slade of Evanston is to open her residence on Monday, April 16, for the first of a series of lectures for the benefit of the Cradle Home for Adoption.

Miss Edwina Litsinger is to give a luncheon next Thursday for three prospective brides—Miss Anne Wood and Miss Mary Lake, who are to be wed in June, and Miss Mary Jacoby, whose wedding takes place in May.

Mrs. Secor Cunningham Jr. of Lake Forest is returning this week from a stay in Charleston, S. C.

When Mrs. Robert M. Curtis set off for California this week she delegated her responsibilities of the Junior League bookshop in Lake Forest to Miss Albert B. Dick Jr., who has risen to the occasion before Mrs. Curtis' absence.

Mrs. Dick has been laid low by a cold, but she is now able to go to work with her sister, Mrs. Philip Kelley, for a short visit in New York City next week with their mother, Mrs. Joseph B. Cotton, so she, in turn, has stepped into the shoes of Mrs. Kelley.

Here, where Easter lilies are retelling about a million dollars apiece, a little difficult to realize that in Bermuda they are being used as great profusion as table decorations. At Bermuda's lilies are almost as common as its oranges. He has Mrs. Bowman C. Lingle, her mother, Mrs. W. L. Lingle, and her son, Kendall Lingle, who is having his vacation from the Berkshire School, and there, as also are the Harlan C. Smiths with their daughters, Elizabeth Byron and Anne Byron Smith, and a guest of the latter, Miss Elizabeth Douglas of Beekmantown, N. Y.

The Albert Pattison and the David Peck were still undecided yesterday whether or not they'd go to French Lake Springs for the Easter weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Peck, who have been occupying the Sam Chase house in Lake Forest, have taken over a lovely old house on College road, and are planning to move about May 1. The place hasn't been occupied for eight years and it has lots of possibilities in the way of ghosts, being "done over" or what have you?

Mr. G. Hall Rood, of 200 East Delaware place, has returned from a trip to California and is occupied with helping along the publicity for the League of Women Voters convention at the Palmer house the last of this month.

Mr. and Mrs. Perrythe Sherrisse (Mrs. Arthur Ryerson) are to be at Durman for Easter.

Miss Rosemary Baur has returned to spend Easter with her mother, Mrs. John Baur, at their Astor street residence after spending two weeks in Washington and New York. She will remain a week or so before returning to school.

Miss Carol Bush, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Bush of 1533 North State parkway, is spending her Easter holiday in Bermuda. She went with two of her classmates, Mrs. Vassar, Miss Fannie Hummer of Mount Kisco, N. Y., and Miss Bayless Brewster of Richmond, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Renshaw and their son, Charles Jr., of 221 East Walton place, have just returned from a two months' stay at Chandler, Ariz.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harrison Chadwick have returned to their apartment at 209 Lake Shore drive after a three weeks' sojourn in New York. They spent February in Palm Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. H. Farrell of 122 North State street are back from their western travels. Mrs. Farrell is coming up from St. Louis, Mo., to spend Easter with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Moore, of 148 Stratford place, a week or so thereafter.

Father and Son Wed 50 and 25 Years Ago Today

Today is a day of special significance to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Zahn, 1115 Hannah avenue, Forest Park, and their son, Charles, and his wife, Mrs. Margaret Zahn, 1115 Hannah avenue. The two couples will celebrate their golden and silver wedding anniversaries respectively. Mr. and Mrs. Zahn were married 50 years ago today in the home of Leland Stanford, founder of the university, when the Union Pacific railway, for which Mr. Zahn worked, was being laid across the country. Mr. Zahn, who is a building contractor, built the apartment house in Oak Park and was later a Forest Park building commissioner.

Eternal Vigilance Is Necessary in Proper Training

Mothers write me of problems they are confronted with—usually physical ones—in connection with their young children. Often they conclude by saying something like this:

"I did not have this difficulty until after my second baby was born. Then I suppose I got careless, or I was so busy with the new baby that I neglected these things, and now I have all that training to do over again. Perhaps this is the cause of it all."

Undoubtedly in most cases it is the cause of it all. A young baby involves a great deal of time for a woman who has all her own work to do, and it is only natural that having less endurance than usual she should take for granted that he will continue in the ways in which he has been trained.

He will, if he is given the opportunity to do so. Otherwise, if this is let go and that is put aside for other duties, the continuity of his good habits may be broken—and then there is trouble. He has to be trained over again and sometimes this is harder than it was in the beginning.

Nobody but a mother and a housewife can possibly understand the detail and work that both occupations involve. Nevertheless, a mother who has a new baby would do better to sacrifice the cleanliness of her house if she must make a choice than the care of her first baby when the second comes along. Especially when children are little, regularity, eternal vigilance are a necessary part of their successful training. Things not only have to be started, but they have to be kept up. Although this means a great deal of effort at the time, it requires less strength and worry in the end.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., April 5.—[Special.]—The Vice President and Mrs. Dawes have issued invitations for dinner on April 12 in the Pan-American Union building.

Invitations were issued today for the wedding of Miss Janet Phillips, debutante daughter of former Representative and Mrs. Thomas W. Phillips Jr., and the Leander McCormick Goodhart, son of the late Frederick E. McCormick-Goodhart of England. The ceremony will be performed in Bethlehem chapel of the Cathedral of St. Peter and Paul at 4:30 Saturday, April 28, and will be witnessed only by the relatives and a few intimate friends. Miss Phillips was presented to society only a few months ago. She is 18 years old, although her nineteenth birthday will be celebrated before the wedding day. The bridegroom elect gave his age as 42. A million dollars was settled upon the youthful bride elect after the engagement was announced a few weeks ago.

Green Is a Favorite Shade of Fashion

by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—We may possibly escape our salad days, but it is going to be increasingly difficult to avert our salad evening. That is to say, we are wearing green—much, much green for evening clothes and wraps—and it comes in every tint from palest of sea foam effects to the deep aquamarine tones. In fact, as regards the last, there are many of these verdant tones of today which are as brilliant and vivid as jewels, or as the green of stained glass windows.

Today we present one of these evening gowns which is tempered by a metallic tint. Here is a green-and-gold lamé lining the graceful silk drapery. Aside from that lining, there is no other touch of shimmering on a gown which relies for its elegance upon the draping of the skirt and the distinction of the material. It will be seen, by the way, that the draping results in a slightly diagonal effect at the waistline. The V neck is employed both front and back.

As regards the choice of material, one cannot be too emphatic concerning the place of moire in a fashion mood that is chiefly concerned with correcting our former faults of boyish blandness. There is, in fact, no better material than this old fashioned rustling silk for producing those feminine side draperies and puffs which are so much a part of our present day styling.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Toasted Fudges.

Having made something of a fad of fudges during the last few weeks, because they have flavor and crispness beyond most breads, I have come to believe that this little whole wheat roll—just whole wheat and water—is a true health bread, especially when toasted, whole or split.

I tried a fudge on an Englishman and he said at once, with a question mark in his voice, "Pikelets?" and I was quite delighted. But pikelets are not always as fudgy as fudge, and water, though sometimes, and there have been other fudges than those made of whole wheat and water. I do not add salt because I like to get the pure flavor of the wheat, and here is a case where to me salt does not bring out flavor.

The cup of cold water—as cold as you can get—one cup of whole wheat flour, one mayonnaise crock or in its place a bowl, one long and strong egg beater, one iron roll pan—not to be obtained everywhere, but worth hunting for—hot and buttered, one oven at a temperature of 450 degrees and thirty minutes of baking are the ingredients for fudges of a lovely golden brown on the roll side, and maybe slightly puffed on the other side, but that depends.

A lack of proper effect is nothing to cry over, and if the fudges are to be kept sometime later and toasted, it is better not to have this effect. The pikelets of old were baked and toasted at once, and so may the fudges be on the upper side, but with the right baking it is a superfluous to toast the roll side. Eat these with butter alone or with butter and honey.

Now, it goes without saying that many different effects can be secured even with so simple a mixture as this, and an expert's tongue, or a loving doer seem to make a great difference, and in the beating of the mixture, as well.

Pity the Fellow Who's Married to an Iceberg Gal

BY DORIS BLAKE.

If advice would serve to spur those take-it-for-granted husbands to telling it with kisses the species would have died long ago. They've been deluged with it.

In the concentration on the male, the female of the iceberg species, I fear, has been neglected. And yet the record of her cold blooded aloofness may be read into countless numbers of divorce cases. Women rush pell-mell to the lawyers with sob laden tales of affection denial.

Yes, there are cold wives, formidable creatures to live with. They may have the virtues of the saints. These virtues may be admired. But for living with purposes a man would prefer less virtue and more warm humanity.

"Edward" knows. He tells his wife that the world couldn't go on without love. She tells him "it is a lot of bunk." He is very affectionate; his wife is not. He told her that if everybody acted as cold as she, the frozen waters of the north pole would be just as good a habitat as any place else. She told him he was nothing but an old fool. He referred to a married couple of their acquaintance who are extremely happy. This girl is always kissing and pecking her husband affectionately. Edward's wife says that kind of love is not true love. It doesn't come from the heart. When it comes from the heart a person doesn't have to show it. Edward queries: "How are you going to know it's in the heart if there aren't some visible signs?"

GIRL'S DRESS.

The button-down-front dress with its quaint turnover collar and scarf tie gives the modern girl a smart appearance for the classroom, office or travel. It is also the thing for the youthful type of woman for general wear. Inserted plaited sections at either side seam add a graceful flare when in motion. Navy blue silk with white crêpe de chine collar and cuffs, scarf tie and blue buttons, is particularly chic. Printed silk crêpe, wool jersey and crêpe de chine are also appropriate.

The pattern, 3339, comes in sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years. Size 16 requires 3½ yards of 40 inch material with ¼ yard of 40 inch contrasting.

"Forty Plus" Claims Bosses Demand the Gayly Dressed Gal

A Male Critic recently voiced his opinion in this column on knee length skirts and bobbed heads on women of 40 and thereabout. His reform views volunteered the suggestion that women dress their age.

"Lizette Smith," answering the gentleman says, "Try and do it."

Forty-plus is "Lizette S." with hair well groomed at an expense a bit beyond what she'd prefer to have to spend on it. Nevertheless, it's a recognized expense in the program of the employed woman. The male critic resented the color that older women employ in the interests of a youthful appearance. "Lizette" had wardrobe running the gamut of blues and greens and yellows, with one dark blue and one black dress. Her dresses come just below her knees.

"I often feel that my knee length skirts and my little birthday costume constitute an anachronism. Yet, I may not consult my own wishes in the matter of dress."

"For twenty years I have worked in my present position. Recently we had occasion to employ a woman ten years my junior. She, having lost a loved one, dressed in black, her dress reaching her ankles. She was employed for temporary work. Later it was found the position needed a permanent worker."

"I asked that the temporary employee be kept. She was a well educated woman, refined, clever and a good worker. I was told gently, but firmly, that this woman was too old. Remonstrating, reminding my employers that she was ten years younger than I."

"The reply was 'But, you don't dress like that!' and the further explanation that the place could have anybody who wasn't snappy and that even if I were older, which they doubted, I was up and coming in the matter of dress."

"So," she says, "if your clever correspondent will write his congressman with a view to having 40 year old women sent to an institution to be taken care of by the state, we'll dress just as the state dictates, but while we're on our own we'll dress as we please and laugh at all the male critics in the world—Forty-Plus and Proud of it."

If this is impossible, I have a set of exercises, "Youth Preserver," which you may do at home. Send a stamped addressed envelope for them.

FARM AND GARDEN HIGWAY

The tomato is the fifth most important commercially grown vegetable in this country and is one of the most standbys in the home garden. The gardener who attempts to grow tomatoes without paying any attention to the wither and rot diseases is taking a great chance of losing an entire season's effort.

There are now several varieties that withstand wither and rot and are recommended highly by growers, including the Marglobe, Marvel and Norton. The Marglobe seems to be praised generally by experienced growers. It is liked not only because it resists wither and rot, but also because it is one of the home and commercial varieties producing big, red fruits, with solid meat.

Those who like the old favorites, Ponderosa, think a cross of the Marglobe, which is pink. It does well for home gardeners. Both of these varieties, as well as the Norton, are medium late.

Miss J. B.: THE LINES RUNNING from the nose to the corners of the mouth are parenthesis lines. Massage with a good cold cream on the finger tips, working the finger tips outward toward the cheek bones. A formula for a cream may be had for a stamped, addressed envelope.

Fride and the Fall

Many years ago, when on my honeymoon, my bride and I were sailing up the Mississippi river. When dinner was announced I wished to act the part of a man of the world to impress my partner with what a "sturdy oak" she had married. In fact, I desired that she should think of me as the man who always did the right thing at the right time. So I ushered her in to dine and seated her solicitously at the first table.

As a sharp prick of a pin punctures the most lovely toy balloon, so was my pride shattered when the head steward came in hurriedly and told me I was sitting at the captain's table and that we must move—and in the presence of a hundred amused onlookers. Seeking a place to hide my embarrassment and finding none, I slowly tried to a crisp in my own blushing. L. S. W.
